Merchants button-up downtown

Create shopper incentive program to highlight new parking

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Downtown merchants will welcome shoppers with incentives, convenient parking behind their stores, new back-of-the-store entrances, and a $1,000 grand raffle prize at the end of sidewalk construction.

Downtown sidewalks may be under construction for several weeks, but merchants remain undaunted. They plan to reward shoppers who use rear parking lots and continue to shop with them.

The parking lots are on Toft Avenue and Skidmore Drive.

"It's your button to success," said Larry Hanson, downtown merchant and member of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry. He is one of a few dozen merchants who decided on the program at a morning chamber meeting Thursday, Feb. 11.

"I think it's a great idea," said President Barbara Porch. She presented the button proposal to members so it could be in place when construction starts in early March.

Downtown Antioch merchants will distribute 10,000 buttons throughout the Antioch area. The two-color button with a picture of a yellow construction hard-hat will have a pin on the back. Shoppers will be encouraged to wear the button during the March through May downtown sidewalk renovation period.

Shoppers who wear the button, or have a shopper card, will receive an incentive gift from merchants when making a purchase. Each participating business will have a different gift.

Incentive gifts may be a piece of candy, a coupon for a discount on a future purchase, an immediate discount, or some other item. Customers can also show their button or shopper card to enter a raffle drawing in each business. Merchants may have weekly raffle drawings for their customers. Participating stores will have different raffle prizes.

At the end of the sidewalk construction period, all shopper raffle entrants of all stores will be eligible for a grand prize.

"The Chamber will be sponsoring a $1,000 grand raffle prize in Chamber gift certificates at the end," said Porch. "We will do the drawing Saturday night at the Taste of Antioch."

Taste of Antioch/Maxwell Street Days will be Thursday to Sunday, July 22 through 25.

Merchants also will distribute maps to identify locations of new parking lots behind downtown stores as well as how to reach them.

At the February meeting, Antioch Community Development Director Claude LeMere described the upcoming sidewalk improvement program to merchants.

"We'll select a (construction) company on the 25th," LeMere said. The contractor will start construction during the first few weeks of March.

The village will set-up big signs with flashing lights to direct people to parking lots.

LeMere promised merchants that he will be out on the project every day to move it along. "I'm sure after one week with me it will move along faster."

There will be no parking permit-

Deercrest approved

Village of Antioch trustees approved a preliminary development plan for the Deercrest Planned Unit Development, PUD, at their Monday, March 1 village board meeting.

Approval for the PUD was based on agreements between the village and the developer that emerged from staff meetings and public hearings by the Combined Plan and Zoning Commission that began Thursday, Jan. 8, 1998 and ended Thursday, Oct. 8, 1998.

Agreement between the village and the developer regarding the issue of fences between Deercrest and adjacent property was not resolved and will be discussed further. The developer agreed to abide by future village decisions.

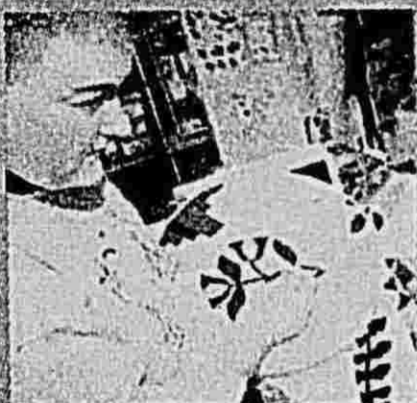

The Deercrest PUD, in general, contains more open space and is less dense than required or permitted by village ordinances.

The Combined Plan and Zoning Commission had recommended denial of the Deercrest PUD request on Oct. 8. A subsequent workshop between the developer and village trustees with plan and zoning commissioners was conducted Tuesday, Jan. 12, 1999 to evaluate 11 reasons for the commission's vote to deny.

Cashier Kay cashes-in on $100,000 instant cache

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Fortune smiled on Antioch Armanetti Wine and Liquors' Cashier Kay Druse at 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 26 when she received $100,000.

Someone had to tell her how much she won because she kept miscounting the zeros.

Druse will be back.

"I was trying to save money," Druse said. In the moments before she scratched an Illinois State Lottery scratch-and-win ticket, she was trying to figure a way to save a few more dollars for her 10-day vacation trip to Florida with her sisters and Aunt.

"Every couple of years we go," she said. Sisters Lynn, Joy, Val, and Aunt Helen were scheduled to leave on vacation this week. A few more dollars in her pocket would help her enhance the experience.

"I was standing here working," she said. "When I work, I play a couple of scratch-offs. To no avail." Friday would be different, but it had not felt different before the big win.

"I took a chance."

"It spit out a winner."

The $5 ticket revealed itself in stages, according to Druse. "I didn't believe my eyes."

At first she thought it was $100, but then it looked more like a $1,000. "I just couldn't count 'em."

That is $5 for five zeros, after a non-descript number one.

She will continue to work. "It's not a million," she said.

True, but it is enough to spread it around, and she intends to help out some family members with two purchases. Indeed, if she buys the cars at Antioch dealerships, her sales taxes will in turn help out every Antioch resident.

"I'm going to buy both my daughters (Karen and Dawn) a car. I need a new kitchen floor and countertop. And, I would love to go to Alaska," she said. "Everyone says it is beautiful. Now I can afford to go."

"The rest we're going to save," she said. "We need a nest egg."

Druse and husband Delbert take fall vacations. They like to head west. She said that she only plays local lottery games, but on their trips west through Davenport, she admits she

RINGA FUNERAL HOME

Bob Ringa, Jr. – Funeral Director

Funeral customs are slowly changing, and so, too, is the ownership of many family funeral homes and cemeteries.

A recent trend has been for a few large domestic and foreign corporations to purchase family-run funeral homes. Unfortunately, they do not change the name on the sign, leaving one to assume the original family still owns the establishment.

Our firm is still owned by the family that founded it over 103 years ago. And, because we are a family-owned and directed funeral home, we can still provide the thoughtful service that only a family can, at fair prices.

Sprenger on the north side of Route 173 at the north end of Savage Road. There will be a total of 495 dwelling units in the Deercrest PUD.

The approved PUD is 20 dwelling units less than the 515 units originally proposed by Deercrest developers. Also, existing zoning conditions on the property would allow 672 dwelling units.

Deercrest developers agreed to create a conservation easement for designated portions of the property that will be managed by a group acceptable to the village.

The developer will pay the village $40 per dwelling unit to be placed in a fund to help pay for a traffic signal, at some future unspecified and unknown time, at Route 173 and Savage Road.

The developer will pay school impact fees and library impact fees as agreed upon with officials of each district.

The developer will transfer park property to the Village of Antioch Parks and Recreation Department as well as $883,000 of park improvements secured by a bond of 115 percent.

The 495 dwelling units will consist of 116 town homes, 111 clustered homes, and 268 single family homes. Townhouse units will not be placed on top of one another.

The village will provide sewer and water to the development from its own lines yet to be constructed. Repayment of village bonds for the sewer and water improvements constructed by the village will be guaranteed by an unconditional letter of credit in place prior to final plan approval.

Final plans for Deercrest must be submitted within five years or the village will have the right to hold public hearings and considering canceling the approved Deercrest PUD.

In addition, two other changes have been made by the Deercrest developer in the preliminary plan and approved by the Village board.

A secondary road was added to permit a future connection with any land development to the west of the property. At the present time, no development is planned for that area.

A 10-foot wide easement was created between some lots that gives residents in the northwestern portion of the property access to Mary's Park.

The developer will work with Village of Antioch officials to petition the Illinois Department of Transportation to obtain a traffic signal at Savage Road and Route 173. Deercrest plans include proper right-of-way widths and areas for deceleration lanes.

Townhouse buildings will not have more than four dwelling units per building.

DOWNTOWN: Merchants button-up to create parking awareness

ted downtown during construction. There will be only one lane of traffic through downtown, and the sidewalks will be replaced on one side of the street at a time.

LeMere gave a strong endorsement to the merchant button and shopper card program. "This button program that Barbara (Porch) is going to introduce is wonderful."

Buttons will be distributed in a variety of ways. Some merchants suggested passing them out at the Piggly-Wiggly grocery store and the True Value/Just Ask Rental Store, both on Orchard Street. Merchants will have buttons in their stores to give-away.

"We can hand out buttons at the Expo at the end of March," said Porch.

The Chamber will sponsor its third annual Antioch Business Expo/Trade Show at Antioch Community High School on Saturday and Sunday, March 27 and 28.

"I like the button idea because of the visual impact," said Wendy Maston, of Quilter's Dream Inc., 902 Main Street.

Randy Nolan, of Impressions Count, 907 Main Street, urged that the program start as soon as possible so customers will have their buttons and cards in hand as construction starts.

"This is a positive program," LeMere told merchants.

MONEY: Cashier wins

has walked onto a Riverboat Casino. "I play a quick-pick when the numbers are big," she said. Otherwise, her risk-taking is limited to scratch-offs.

Druse has been in the area all her life. "I grew up in Lake Villa and lived here my adult life, over 30 years," she said. She has worked for eleven years at Antioch Armanetti Wine and Liquors, 1180 Main Street, at Routes 173 and 83.

All of her regular customers are excited for her. "They all want to come in and rub me for luck," she said.

The store put up a large sign announcing that she is a winner.

For her, the scratch-off games are the ones to play. She said that she knows if she has won or lost immediately. "It's fun." According to her, you never know what you're getting.

"It's a shocker. I still can't sleep," she said of her winnings.

Comedy night benefits community

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club's Comedy Night presents its third annual comedy night, tomorrow, Saturday, March 6 at Father Hanley Hall at St. Peter's School starting at 7 p.m.

Two comedians are the featured performers of the evening, but the real community-building action is the raffle and silent auctions. For appetites, there are appetizers and desserts.

To add dignity to the evening, The Antioch Woman's Club has added President Ted Axton, of the First National Bank—Employee Owned, and Antioch Community High School District 117 Superintendent Dr. Dennis Hockney to the mix as masters of ceremony.

"We're getting a lot of good feedback," said club President Cathi Hackel. "It's March. We're all looking forward to a night out that is close-by."

She urges everyone to come and enjoy the comedy and have a great time. It is a full evening of food, entertainment, and humor. "Everybody's been very supportive of what we're trying to do," Hackel said.

Professional comedians Fred

Klett and Patti Vasquez will each create a special evening. They are the featured attraction for 90 minutes of family humor during the evening.

Comedian Fred Klett does a style of family-oriented material about marriage that Bill Cosby so successfully employs. He does calm observations of existence. He comments about living with children.

Klett has performed with Jerry Seinfeld, Jay Leno, and Richard Lewis. He has appeared on Comedy Central, HBO, and Showtime and, recently, made his network television debut on NBC's "Friday Night Videos."

Opening for Klett is Patti Vasquez. She has been at Zanies in Mt. Prospect where she has opened for comedians like Bill Maher, Tom Rhodes, Richard Lewis, John Pinette, John Caponera, and Will Durst.

Vasquez has appeared on NBC's "Friday Night" program. She learned her performance skills at the Players Workshop of Second City in Chicago.

Comedy Night provides most of the funds the woman's club uses during the year to benefit community groups. The money helps local organizations such as the Antioch Rescue Squad, Guiding Eyes for the Blind, Save-a-Life Foundation, as well as area school programs such as Snowflake, the Tom-Tom newspaper, Finesse Magazine, and the choir.

"Last year we gave to the burn camp," member Vickie Axton said. A $1,300 donation covers the cost for two children for a one week stay.

"We gave, last year, to the Guiding Eyes for the Blind."

Local automobile dealerships, restaurants, and downtown businesses have contributed merchandise, gift certificates, and services. "Usually there's something for everybody," said member Karen Kubin.

"We do have a hand-painted print of a light-house. Jack Miller painted it," said Vickie Axton.

Laurie Stahl has donated creation of a special cake. J.C.'s Pizzeria has donated a pizza-a-month for one year. There are season tickets for PM&L Theater as well as for Six Flags Great America.

Baskets have been donated with special collections. They include: a Christmas basket, chocolate basket, Italian wine and pasta basket, bird basket, birthday basket, garden basket, and a desperation dinner basket.

"There will be clothing from Sequoia Pride," said Vickie Axton.

Tickets at the door are $15.

Artist to demonstrate in pottery shop

Jill Tortorella will host Anne-Bridget Gary at the Antioch Pottery Works on Thursday, March 11 starting at 10 a.m. Gary will discuss her experiences as a potter-ceramist in China, Korea, Japan, and the United States.

Gary is professor of ceramics at the University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point.

She will have slides and demonstration pieces. Gary "will demonstrate her unique style of wheel throwing that includes carving, both porcelain and stoneware, and 'stuffing' forms for sculpture," Tortorella said that people should be a lunch and drink.

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club is building its membership. They have added about 15 new members this year, according to President Cathi Hackel. That at 7:30 p.m. Ralph Brooke, of Antioch, will conduct. Featured local soloists are Wanda Sobczak, Ken Smouse, and John Desblens. Nicholas Solomon, of Deerfield, and Norman Miranda, of Kenosha, will also sing.

Antioch resident Judith Bronder will be on the Illinois Lottery's television game show "Illinois' Luckiest" on Saturday, March 6. She will appear on Chicago's WGN-TV, Channel 9 at 6:30 p.m. She will compete with 17 other contestants from across the state for prizes of up to $100,000 or more. She qualified to appear when she found three television sets on her "Illinois' Luckiest" instant ticket. She filled out the back of the ticket and sent it to Springfield. Minimum prize for contestants is $500.

Swing Street Café '99 offers musical evening

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Swing Street Café '99 rolls out some new sounds and dance movements this year in the completely re-decorated south gymnasium of Antioch Community High School.

This annual showcase of musical talent and evening of fun and dancing will be Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13. The doors open at 7 p.m.

"The show starts at 7:30 p.m. and it ends around 10," said Sheri Fries.

Fries and Lynne Keller have brought this annual event together with the members of ACHS Music and Performance Sponsors, AMPS.

Swing Street Café presents the musical talent gathered in the jazz ensembles, concert and symphonic bands, soloists, the Show Choir, the Fortunate Eight choir, and theater members.

"On the menu will be nachos, pizza, potatoes, desserts, and beverages," said Fries. "We have a lot of parent help making the desserts."

Larry Mondle's Baskin and Robbins Antioch franchise has made a donation for the evening's food. Dominos is helping to provide the pizzas.

"We will also have a variety of raffle prizes drawn each night that were donated by area businesses."

The raffles this year are for merchandise. There is no 50/50 raffle this year, according to Fries.

Tickets are at the door at are $6 for adults, $3 for students, and children under five may attend without cost.

"The money generated by this fund raiser will go towards the instrumental music program at Antioch Community High School," Fries said.

Women to pray with Venezuela service at St. Peter

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

A Women's Ecumenical World Day of Prayer based on a service written by women in Venezuela will be hosted in Antioch by women at St. Peter Church. The service also will be held in churches around the world.

"St. Peter's Women invite women of all faiths to join us on Friday, March 5," said Jean Zak, a member of the organizing committee.

The service includes a pot luck luncheon and then the special prayer service at 1 p.m.

"A pot luck will be served at 11:30 p.m. in the lower level of the Church," she said. "A new elevator has been installed for your convenience."

"The entrance is off the side door."

She asks that participants bring a dish to pass.

"Every year women from a different country will write the program," Zak said. "This year it is written by the women of Venezuela."

Twelve women from different churches in the Antioch area will put on the prayer service.

Veterans donate radar display unit to police

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Members of the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoit Post 4551 and Ladies Auxillary have donated a radar speed display unit to the Antioch Police Department.

The donation is one of a series of actions the post has taken to support Antioch and improve community service.

VFW Members also have made contributions to the DARE Program and have recently purchased additional land for more parking for people who use their hall for community events.

The radar display unit shows drivers the speed of automobiles as they pass through the radar.

"They had seen the unit," said Lt. Ron Roth, of the Antioch Police Department. "They thought it was a great tool for the police department to promote safe driving."

"This piece of equipment is state of the art," said Roth. It is made by a manufacturer well known for quality law enforcement radar systems.

The veterans' membership voted to make the donation in January, according to Post Commander Bill Oerly. The Ladies Auxillary of Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoit Post 4551 contributed $500, and the Sequoit Post veterans contributed $1,000. The Village of Antioch matched the grants to purchase the equipment.

Roth said, "This is part of a community policing effort. It lets drivers know what their speed is."

Post member Al Himber said, "It's not to intimidate the motorist but to keep them aware of speeds to help protect children in the community."

"What we're doing, number one priority, is putting this in school zone areas during school hours," said Roth. The unit also will be used in high volume traffic areas and places that have a high rate of accidents.

The unit will be placed in areas where police receive a high level of citizen complaints about speeding.

"It's helped some," Roth said. People do slow down when they are reminded of their speed. "We've had a lot of positive feedback on this."

"Most people realize we're trying to make drivers aware of the speed limits without issuing a traffic citation."

Roth offered a helpful hint for Antioch drivers who pass the unit on top of a police squad car. Roth said that after setting-up the radar display unit in an area for a day or two, drivers may later see a squad car in the area actually running radar and writing tickets.

"Which I think is more than fair," he said.

Oerly said that Sequoit Post was able to raise money for the donation through its bingo program and Pull-tab receipts. In the past, the post has donated in-vehicle computers to the police department. They also have donated to the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District and the Antioch Rescue Squad.

The veterans' support for the DARE Program has been given over a few years. "We've made a donation last year and this year too," Oerly said. The money helps the department purchase T-shirts and program literature.

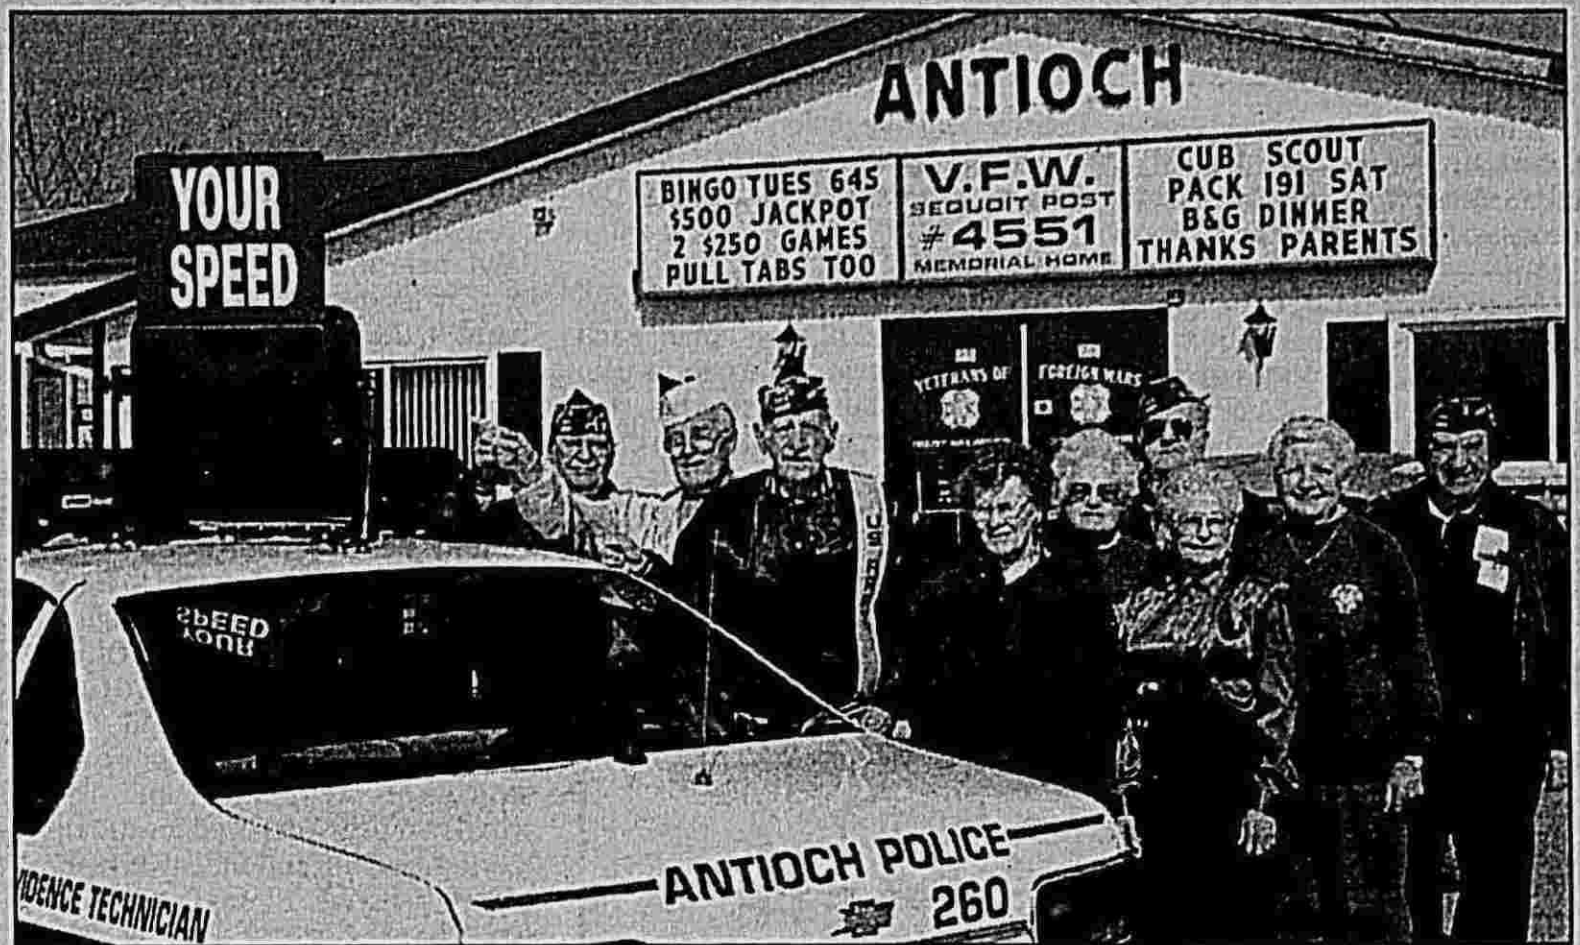

"We donated to help them buy what they needed," Oerly said. "I think it's a good program."

The donations by the veterans for community projects is financed through their weekly bingo games and Pull-tabs.

To assure themselves that they have sufficient parking for the hall, the veterans have purchased property east of their building.

"We purchased it for a parking lot," Oerly said. "Right now we're parking up to 50 to 60 cars on a good night."

The purchase was approved by the membership at a special meeting.

Members of the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoit Post 4551 and the Ladies Auxillary of the post helped purchase a radar display unit for the Antioch Police department. It will tell motorists their speed on village roads. With the donated unit are, from the left, Ron Harmon, John Kurinec, Al Himber, Gloria Karrick, Dorothee Himber, Wally Hartge, Nell Kangeter, Joan Jendras, and Post Commander Bill Oerly.— Photo by Kenneth Patchen

Antioch historians learn of barns' beauty, fate

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Members of the Lakes Region Historical Society met Thursday, Feb. 25 to stop, look, and listen to the history and future fate of Lake County barns.

Nancy Burgess, of Long Grove-based Save-a-Barn Foundation, presented a selection of slides to document county barns of all shapes, sizes, and styles. More than 100 barns will eventually appear in a book about Lake County barns that she has completed. She is trying to raise money to help her publish the

"I got started doing this because last year we had barns on the Long Grove Village calendar," Burgess said. She spoke to a packed meeting room at the society's museum at Depot and Main streets.

"I kind of fell in love."

Burgess said that the barns she has found and photographed each have the essence of the people who built them, the farmers who used them, and the people who own them now.

"I will show you 33 barns I've documented."

"These barns were built from our very early forests," she said. "It was one of the most important structures on the farm."

At the time that the county's oldest barns were built, they were constructed to last forever.

Early pioneers had never seen land before that looked like the county landscape. "They set their barns in the best places overlooking the lands closer to the fields." It was a break with European traditions of barn placement.

Burgess took the society's members on a century-long tour of Lake County barn history. Her earliest photograph shows one said to have been built in 1834 in the Barrington area by Native Americans. Other barns in her collection reflected German traditions of construction.

Some barns were simply constructed of hand-hewn beams. The wood had been prepared for use by a water-soaking and then two years of vertical drying. "It was designed to last 100 years," she said of one 1847 structure, now 152 years old.

Burgess shared stories about the construction methods, materials, and the families that built the barns or owned them. She described design changes through the decades. She explained the social and cultural history of barns.

For example, there was a period of time when barns were built by wealthy gentleman farmers who hired architects to design them. Barns could have hot and cold running water, cork floors to better protect hoofs, and special woods. Some barns were expanded as the family grew.

Barns revealed much about the family. "If you had a large beautiful barn, you definitely had your priorities in order."

"The silo was really a revolutionary addition," Burgess said. It allowed farmers to offer animals a better feed ration through the winter and early spring. It improved silage storage. Other barns added a new invention, ridge poles.

Some barns had stars carved into their walls to permit light to enter to illuminate the interior. The star also would serve for the farmer as a reminder of who was really in charge of his farm. Some barns had windows near the peak with panes of glass that had been carefully carried from the east coast.

The best time for dairy barns in Lake County was around the 1880s. "It was becoming a very strong business," she said. By the 1890s, the size of barns had increased dramatically, in part because of a new roof line design. "It allowed for more storage in the hay lofts," she said.

The history of barns in Lake County is a rich tour of the agricultural roots of the county and the traditions of the life that was lived on its farms.

Burgess makes her presentations to educate and interest people about county barn history. She seeks financial support for the Save-a-Barn Foundation, sells deep green T-shirts, post cards, and posters.

The foundation was created to save Lake County barns. She said that if people do not help save them, they will be destroyed.

"Many of the barns in the county have already been bought by developers," she said. Opportunities to save them, maintain them, or re-use them have become ever more precious. She showed examples of barns re-used as homes, churches, and community centers.

The Save-A-Barn hotline is 847-913-9464. There is also a web site (www.nsn.org/eakhome/savebarn).

"Each one has its own story," she said.

Historians to host open house

The Lakes Region Historical Society will host an open house Sunday, May 2.

Members will meet Thursday, March 25 to plan for the event.

The open house will feature new exhibits built by member Earl Beese in the lower level display area during the past several months.

"We're going to need a little bit of help," said President Bob Lindblad.

He encouraged the membership to turn out for the March 25 meeting.

"I will ask for people to sign up to serve on open house committees," he said. Committees to be formed include refreshments, invitations, and publicity.

The society will invite local contractors involved in helping the society as well as local political leaders.

Rotary seeks homes for exchange students

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Rotary Club members are searching for host families for their 1999 Exchange Student from Denmark. Rotarians hope to secure three families that will offer him a place to stay.

Magnus Boesen, 16, will arrive from Klampenborg, a suburb of Copenhagen, in August. He speaks both German and English well.

The principal for his school described him as a skilled student who is serious about his studies. Boesen was described as a good ambassador for Denmark.

Exchange students are not tourists who must be entertained, according to Stan Livermore, Rotary member. "They're coming to learn about life in the United States and to be an ambassador for their home country," he said. "They're not here to be on vacation."

Members of the Antioch Rotary Club are looking for area families that would welcome Boesen into their homes for a few months so that he can learn what life in the United States is like.

"What we would like to do is find three families that will each host him for three-and-a-half months.

All school expenses of the exchange student are paid by Rotary. Boesen also receives a financial allowance from Rotary.

"The host family receives $100 a month to offset room and board," Livermore said.

Boesen does not need his own room. He is allowed to share a room.

Boesen comes from a family of two doctors and has a sister, 13, by the name of Eva. His father is a specialist in ear, nose, and throat medicine. His mother is a family doctor. They each have their own clinic.

Boesen said that he is looking forward to the opportunity to make new friends, experience another school system, learn about another culture, and live with another family. He expects to improve his ability to write and speak English through the exchange student experience.

Boesen said that he would like to seek additional education after high school. He is thinking of becoming a pilot, a biologist, or a zoologist.

His hobbies are active ones, tennis and soccer. He plays tennis well and recently won a championship of a club of which he is a member. He also teaches tennis to 12 children who are about 7 or 8 years old.

Boesen is already well-traveled. The family has been to California twice and to Florida twice. In addition, they have been to Mexico, Holland, and Greece. Boesen has spent quite a bit of time in France, Italy, Germany, Sweden, and Norway.

Antioch area residents who would like to host the Rotary exchange student can contact Livermore at 395-4200.

Police warn seniors of driveway fraud

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Police Officers have received complaints about two men in a pick-up truck who offer to seal-coat driveways for senior citizens.

The men offer to cover a driveway for $300 for homeowners.

One homeowner noticed that the men were doing a poor job on her driveway. She requested a receipt with their name and business address which they could not provide her.

"She said she was calling the police, and they left," said Lt. Ron Roth of the Antioch Police Department.

Roth said that people should be aware that driveways are not seal-coated in February in this area. The $300 cost is excessive.

People who become suspicious of this service being performed for them, or are concerned that it may not be legitimate, should call the police department.

"People should be aware that this could happen," he said.

Visitor nominates nine of Antioch's features

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

It would be nice to report that the search for the 100 Best things about Antioch is flushed with success.

Instead, maybe it is time to send it down the tubes.

After a few weeks of seeking suggestions and participation, only two people have taken the time to write and fax what they consider to be the best attributes of their home town.

One e-mail list has shown up from San Francisco, however, and it offers a ranking of the top nine attractive features. The list offers a visitor's perspective of what is great about Antioch.

The Antioch News may publish a story on March 26 about the one hundred best things in the Village of Antioch.

Residents are encouraged to nominate their ideas.

The article will include ideas from the public, and other sources, that cover every facet of village life.

Antioch area residents should send nominations in writing as well as a statement about why that is a "best thing" about Antioch for them.

People can send a list with several items. It is not necessary there be 100 nominations. They can list what is truly considered to be wonderful and nice about being in Antioch, about the community, or about people or events that make it nice to be here.

The deadline for contributions is Friday, March 12.

Send the cards and letters to Rhonda Hetrick Burke, Managing Editor, Antioch News, 30 South Whitney Street, Grayslake, Illinois 60030.

People also may send nominations by fax to 223-8810.

Checking in from San Francisco is occasional visitor Terry Sedik. He is the Community Development Director of Daly City, California. His father, Emil Sedik, lives in Highland Park. Sedik frequently visits his father and other friends, including one in the Antioch area.

"Can I offer you my list of things to put on the 100 best things list?" he said.

Number nine on his list was the ease of parking downtown. He thinks he is influenced in that choice because he lives in San Francisco where there is no parking, more or less.

He listed the wine selection at Antioch Armanetti Wine and Liquors, 1180 Main Street. It is a good collection, and Dean Weiner is a very knowledgeable person on the staff there who can help people with selections.

Number seven, on his list is the Halloween festivities in downtown Antioch. "Totally neat," he said.

He put Buttrick Sawmill Park on the list as number six.

Five is DiMarco's Restaurant, 883 Main Street. From the terra cotta planters in front, the beautiful exterior, the atmosphere setting music of Frank Sinatra, to the menu and daily specials, this is a beautiful place with great food.

He nominated the Lakes Region Historical Society as number four. True, he's never been there, but he likes to read the stories about their activities on the NetDirect web site which displays stories from Lakeland Newspapers (www.lpnews.com). It is good to know that the excitement of local people sharing discoveries and knowledge about village elders comes across in the stories. The meetings are fun.

This is a strong nomination.

His second place choice was the Chamber of Commerce and Industry web page (www.lake-online.com/antioch/index.htm). "In bloom 365 days a year," he said. The page is maintained for the chamber by Judith Kallos at istudio, 391 Lake Street. Kallos does outstanding work maintaining the page, although the wiggling peek-a-boo eyeball on the chamber's Halloween page in 1997 was perhaps their outstanding achievement.

For Terry Sedik, village tourist from San Francisco, the number one best thing about Antioch is "Something Sweet," 879 Main Street. The homemade fudge that Sandy Leibolt and Michele Michel make and sell is very good. They donate some of their product to community groups to help with silent auctions or raffles. They are surely some of the friendliest people around. They contribute the door-prize to PM&L Theater productions.

Even from the left side of the continent, the best things of Antioch are evident.

Right now, the last issue before the deadline, however, it would seem that the best aspect of Antioch may be its modesty and unwillingness to draw attention to its best features.

Perhaps such modesty should be respected.

Crafters needed for annual spring show

The 1999 Spring Craft Show at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post has openings for additional crafters.

The show will be Saturday, March 13 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Sunday, March 14 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"I'm still looking for crafters," Dorothee Himber said. She is the organizer for the craft show for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoia Post 4551.

People who would like to participate may call Himber at 395-6934.

Crafters will offer gift items suitable for upcoming holiday events such as Easter and Mother's Day, according to Himber.

"This is the 19th one," she said. "We will have pretty close to 1,000 people who attend."

Last year there were 70 crafters offering a rich variety of merchandise. Himber said there will be clocks, planters, ceramic gift items, afghans, outdoor wood signs, T-shirts, sweat shirts, floor mats made from recycled tires, candy, and pottery.

"The fudge store is going to be here," she said. —Kenneth Patchen

THE CLIPBOARD

John Phelps

Sports fans, start your engines

We have already been and are going through the rigorous christening regarding the "new-look" Bulls. Who are these guys anyway? Will the real Bulls please step forward!

Anyway, enough on that. I promise not to subject you to any further agony. However, closer to home here at Lakeland Newspapers, we are also experiencing somewhat of a 'christening' and I'm pleased that I can be a part of it. In my case, we refer to the sports department.

Though not as earth-shattering in magnitude as the Bulls, I can assure you of more promising results.

Allow me to introduce myself. I'm John Phelps, currently residing in Chicago. Thanks to Executive Editor Neal Tucker and Managing Editor Rhonda Burke, along with sports editor Brendan O'Neill and the rest of the staff, I thank you for taking me in.

I have been saddled with the enviable task of picking up and carrying on (and then some) the legacy left behind of the departed Lee Filas.

Tall order, but I think we'll manage. I do have an advantage in my arsenal—prior knowledge of Lake County and some of the outstanding athletes it has and continues to produce year in and year out.

To some of you, I may be a familiar name, especially in the mid-late 1980s. To others, this will be a new experience that we can work on getting through together.

In short, I've spent many years in this neck of the woods. A 1985 graduate of Warren High, I journeyed over to The College of Lake County for two years.

That's where I discovered that journalism, specifically in the print arena, was the direction I wanted to go. With the aid of then interim athletic director and present guidance counselor Larry Whittier, I became the school's first Sports Information Director for the two ensuing years.

After two great years at CLC, I've spent the next, or last 12, depending on how you view it, dabbling around in the world of print journalism—most notably as a freelance sports writer for the News-Sun for six years and then at the Chicago Tribune, where I worked freelance for four years and was inside for four, all focusing on the prep level.

Somewhere in the middle of all of the chaos I managed to squeeze in a B.A. in Communications from Little Eureka College in central Illinois.

Anyway, that's the portfolio in a nutshell. I'm very happy to be back in the smaller, weekly atmosphere for a variety of reasons.

Right off the bat Lakeland Newspapers is a great company always playing a part in our continuously growing culture. Furthermore, I hope to assist in the production of in-depth sports coverage to our readers, and Lakeland is the right place for me to do that.

Finally, it's nice to return to the small town atmosphere and get away from the hustle-and-bustle big city life tends to lend itself to. Not that there's anything wrong with that—call it a matter of preference. My folks, Al and Sunannah DeCarlo, presently make Grayslake their home. It's nice to be somewhat closer to the family—returning to one's roots, if you will.

Anyway, sit back and enjoy the ride—I know I will.

John Phelps can be reached at (847) 223-8161, ext. 130; fax (847) 223-8810; or e-mail at edit@lnd.com.

Lady Rams 'Dream Season' not over yet

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

Repetition might be the buzz word here.

Head coach Mike Muldrow couldn't have asked for anything more in his inaugural season as the Grayslake girl's varsity basketball coach.

The truth of the matter is that his Lady Rams recently concluded somewhat of a dream season, finishing with the best record in the school's history at 21-8, including 13 consecutive victories to open the season. Grayslake, the sixth-seed in the regionals two weeks ago, beat Lake Forest in the first round before being eliminated by Libertyville in the semifinals.

But wait—it gets better. Muldrow might not be asking for it but the chances are that he'll get it—an encore dream season if not better heading into next year.

"We did great", he said. "The biggest positive though is that we lose only two seniors and have eight juniors returning."

The Lady Rams should be the early odds-on favorites to win the Fox Valley going into next season, with Alicia Ratay departed from Lake Zurich, which has wreaked havoc in the FVC for many years.

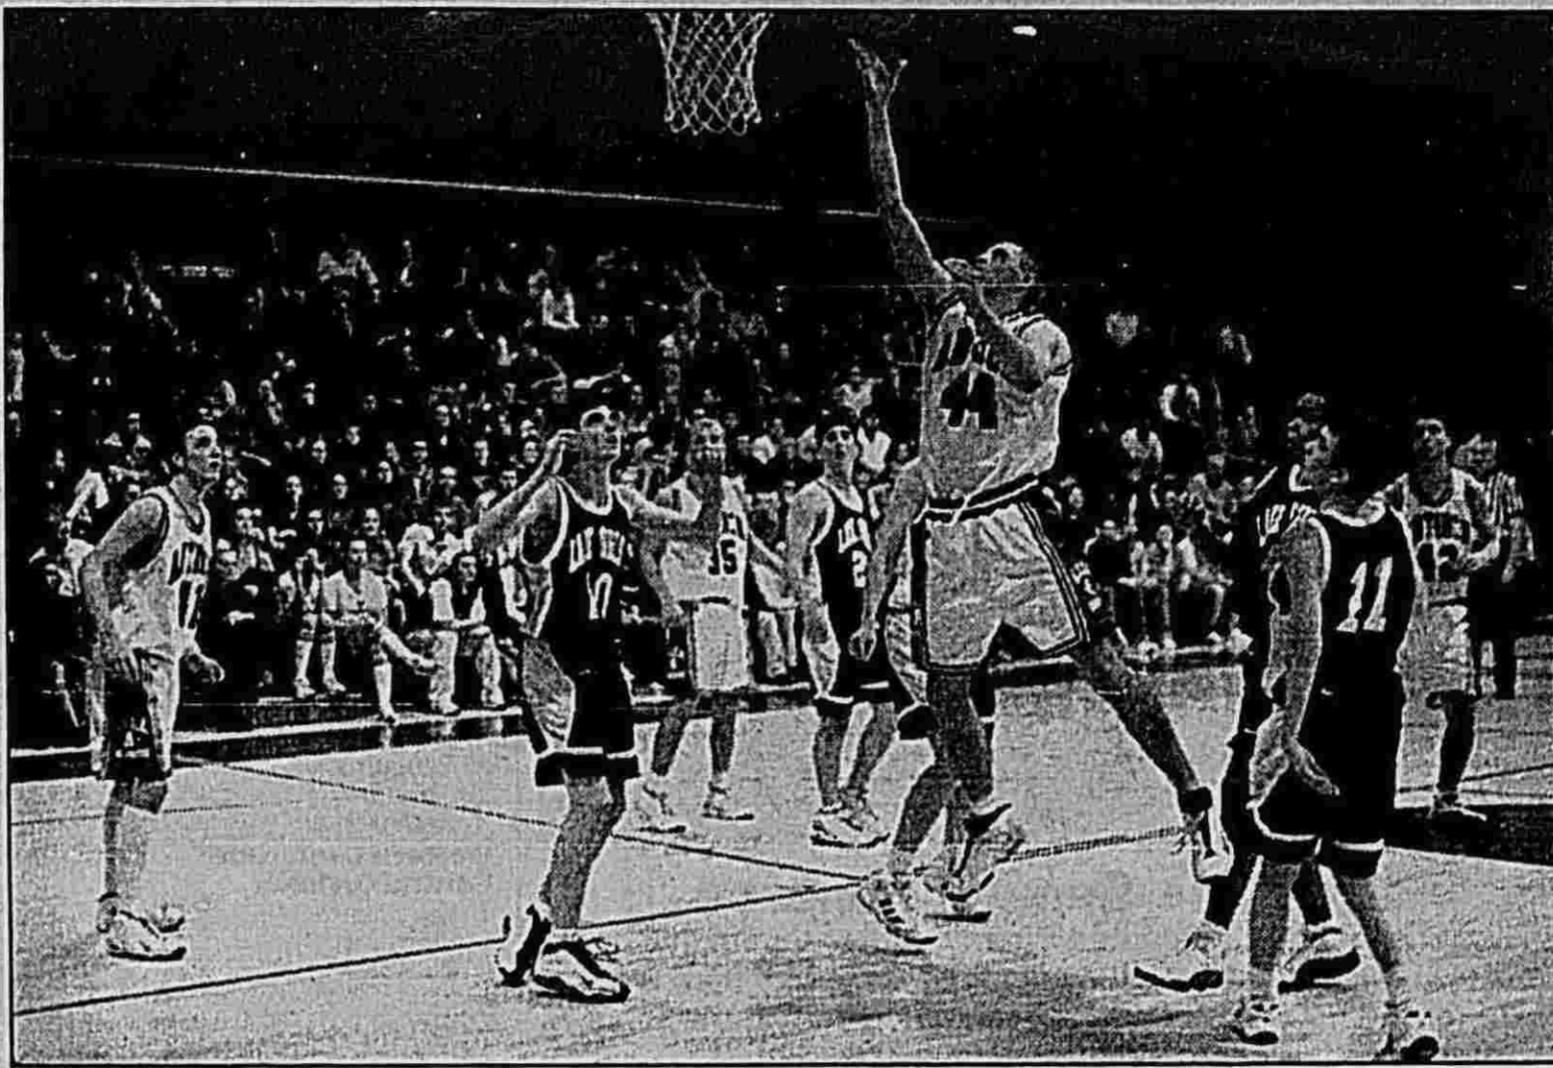

Changing of the guard? "Lake Zurich will still be very strong, but with the likes of (Alicia) Ratay gone, they should be a little more beatable," Muldrow said.

Grayslake, which finished second this year (13-5) behind who else, Lake Zurich, will suffer from the losses of 5-6 guard Alison Losik and 6-0 center Kendra Gallagher.

"Alison did a lot of great things at the guard position and Kendra, with her size advantage, was a good post player and grabbed a lot of rebounds for us," said Muldrow.

"We have a couple of holes to fill but we started juniors and sophomores most of the season, so their experience will definitely be an advantage for us next year."

Of those juniors returning for their senior campaign includes 6-4 center Jenny Wessel, one of the area's leading scorers this season with a 16.5 clip. Wessel, who shot 60 percent from the field and 70 percent from the foul line, and had over 100 blocks on the year, was an All-Tournament selection at the Elk Grove Thanksgiving and Wheaton North

Close call

Christmas Tournaments.

For her efforts, Wessel was named to the Daily Herald All-Area and FVC All-Conference teams.

Carie Pasenelli, 5-7 point-guard, was also a FVC all-conference choice and will be looked upon to run the Rams offense next year.

"They're both very dedicated players and Wessel is a great defensive specialist inside," said Muldrow.

Also returning next year will be 5-9 guard/forward Amy Francis, who was all-tournament at Elk Grove and all-conference as a sophomore, and 5-8 guard Carrie Hovik, who will probably start along with Pasenelli in what will be a solid backcourt for Grayslake.

Melissa Sanders (5-8) will be a junior and solidify the guard position for the Rams.

"She's a great athlete that started a lot of games for us towards the end of the season," said Muldrow.

It looks to be a very promising outlook for Grayslake as they look ahead towards next year—some of the proof is already there.

Lady Sequoits to build off season of struggles

Staff Reporter

Character is probably the best word to describe this year's Antioch girl's basketball team. The Sequoits struggled to an 8-18 record, but head coach Dave Woods isn't about to sweat it.

"I very proud how they hung in there," he said. "They could have folded the tent very easily but the character and willingness to hang in there and play hard despite being out-manned a lot of times—that really impressed me. They sure didn't play like an 8-18 team."

Antioch loses three seniors in Amy Carlberg (9 ppg), Katie Gofron, and Erin Riepe. But juniors waiting to step in include 5-9 forward Jourdan Phillips and 5-10 forward Margaret Fischer, both of whom saw substantial time coming off the bench as juniors. Woods will look to them to be major contributors next year.

In addition, and perhaps most encouraging to Woods is that he will get his playmaker/point-guard back in 5-7 junior Katianne Pechauer, who went down with a torn ACL and missed most of this past season.

"We're really excited about her returning," said Woods. "She's got all-conference written all over her. Unfortunately, when she went down this year, we had to play some people out of position, so that kind of hurt us to lose her. She'll definitely be looked upon to run the offense next year."

The rest of the junior contingent coming in next year saw plenty of varsity time this season, so Woods isn't worried about inexperience.

In addition, he'll have 5-5 guard Bethany Shore, one of the perennial three-point threats in the area, along with Justine Sinkus, a 5-9 forward who led the team as a sophomore with six rebounds per game. Erica Brown, only a freshman this year, will complement Sinkus in the post, as will Shelley Wolfgram, a 6-1 junior center, and 5-5 guard Sasha Milka, a three-point threat.

Brown was Antioch's leading scorer in about six games this past season and as she continues to mature, will be outstanding.

"We have a great group of outside shooters and the inside game to go along with it in Erica, Shelley, and Margaret. Whatever tandem we have in there between those players will tough to handle inside. Overall, things are looking pretty good."

"As long as they make the commitment to playing hard and staying in shape over the summer, next year looks promising. How hard they work over the summer will dictate pretty much what happens next year."

This was somewhat of a frustrating year for the Lady Sequoits and Woods is eager to put it behind.

"We so we just want to put it behind us and try to take it to the next level."

The Volvo C70 Convertible: Subtracting a roof adds a new dimension

The new Volvo C70 convertible may be a luxurious, sporting open four-place tourer providing driving enjoyment, but first — and foremost — it is a Volvo, which means a car designed to safely and securely transport its driver and passengers.

The driving enjoyment in part is provided by a 190-horsepower, aluminum engine powering the front wheels through a four-speed automatic transmission; electronic climate-control system; power windows/ mirrors/locks (with remote); eight-way power seats with memory; leather upholstery; in-dash single-CD/AM/FM/cassette with 240-Watt 10-speaker audio system; cruise control and remote lock/unlock with security system.

The lined, automatic, one-button convertible top, which goes up or down in approximately 30 seconds, features a glass rear window with electric defroster. Glass provides superior vision properties over the plastic rear window found in many soft-top cars due to its better resistance to scratching, ease of cleaning, less visual distortion and the ability to have an integral defroster element.

The C70 convertible's safety systems and features combine those found in all Volvo models plus some designed to meet the unique needs of the "roof-less" C70.

Active safety features include the superior traction offered by front-wheel drive, which can be supplemented by an optional Stability and Traction Control system; front-independent, rear Delta-link suspension for sure handling and the stopping power from four-wheel disc brakes with anti-lock system.

For passive-safety, the Swedish firm's engineers began by providing a strong platform designed to absorb and transmit impact energy around a rigid passenger "safety-cage." Collision forces from front, side or rear are channeled to reinforced structural members, not the passenger compartment.

A car's roof generally provides a major degree of torsional rigidity. The C70, designed to be a convertible, compensates for the missing sheet metal with heavily reinforced lower side rails; reinforced B-pillars; two-pair of struts reinforcing the front subframes; a horseshoe-shaped steel member in the rear passenger compartment area, and a steel wall behind the rear seats. The A-pillars and windshield surround are reinforced by a high-strength-steel tube sandwiched between reinforcements of Boron steel. This reinforced structure combined with Volvo's Roll-Over-Protection System (ROPS) helps to provide passenger protection during certain types of accidents.

The Volvo Side Impact Protection System (SIPS) incorporates door anti-intrusion members made of Boron steel, Boron, a type of steel, is superior to other hardening steels in terms of toughness relative to hardness and has high fatigue strength and wear resistance. There are some 10 critical components made of or reinforced with Boron steel in the C70 convertible.

SIPS also incorporates dual side impact airbags (part of the Supplemental Restraint System or SRS) mounted in the side bolsters of the C70 convertible's front seats.

Dual front airbags, with knee bolsters, comprise the remainder of the convertible's SRS, which complement the three-point seat belts with pyrotechnic tensioners found at all four passenger spots in the convertible.

Seat-belt pre-tensioners increase effectiveness of the three-point harness by removing belt slack in the event of an accident, helping to keep passengers more firmly - and safely - in their seats during certain types of accidents.

Please see C70 / D6

Many of the driver's controls have been gathered together on the center console - easy to reach and with large simple-to-operate buttons. This makes for relaxed and safe driving.

Advice for Weary Wet Weather Drivers

When it comes to driving, few things can be more stressful than setting out on a long trip in a driving rainstorm. In fact, according to recent statistics from the National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration (NHTSA), nearly one million motor vehicle accidents occur each year during wet weather conditions. No doubt a number of these accidents could have been avoided if drivers had made a few adjustments to their normal driving routine. Following are a few basic suggestions to help you improve your driving when the roads get soggy:

- Reduce your speed. This will help your tires' tread to get a better grip on the road, enabling the tread grooves to channel water more effectively. Slowing down also will help reduce the risk of hydroplaning — a condition in which the tires ride on water rather than the road's surface. If you feel a sudden loss of control, ease up on the accelerator — avoid using the brakes.

- Maintain a safe distance. It's important to remember that you need more stopping distance on wet pavement. Focus on the road ahead and allow yourself enough room to react to emergency situations. This margin of safety could protect your life.

- Consider using a glass treatment. Wipers do a competent job, but recent advances in technology have created glass treatments designed to improve visibility when it rains. VisionBlade®, a glass treatment formula from STP, adheres to the surface of windshield glass, to enhance the ability to see oncoming traffic, road hazards and pedestrians in the rain.

forcing it to roll off the windshield more quickly than on untreated glass. The effect of this beading action is most dramatic at night, when the product effectively helps to reduce glare from approaching headlights and streetlights.

According to STP marketing manager Dave Berlin, "When it comes to driving in the rain, it's essential to adjust your driving style to suit the wet road conditions. Additionally, using a glass treatment like VisionBlade® allows you to see more of the window — resulting in an improved view of the road ahead."

Unlike other glass treatments on the market, VisionBlade® lasts for up to six months. The unique, easy-to-use applicator provides effective coverage across the windshield and exterior glass of one car, or can be used to treat the windshields of two cars in about 10 minutes.

In addition to the tensioners, the bottom of the front seat belts and thus assure the best possible positioning of the lap-belt portion of the three-point harness.

The front shoulder belt no longer needs height adjustment in the C70 Convertible since the top fastening point is much further back than in a sedan. Given this geometry, movement up or down has little or no effect on actual seat-belt position on the shoulder.

The rear-seat harnesses are mounted in the center of heavily-reinforced ledge and lock on the outboard side of the rear seats. There are equipped with child-restraint-locking lap belts.

The airbag sensor serves double duty in the C70 convertible, providing triggering signals for both the airbags and the spring-loaded roll-over bars of the Rollover Protection System (ROPS).

The two steel roll over bars, that are hidden behind the rear seats, pop up within two tenths of a second after the sensor detects a 40-degree side-to-side or 72-degree front-to-rear roll. Another sensor detects if the car is in a "free-flight" roll and triggers the bars under such circumstances.

Driver (and passenger) safety means more than protection from or in the event of a collision. It also means securing the vehicle from intrusion and ease of ingress/egress.

The C70 comes standard with a security system integrated with the convertible's central locking system. Activation is with either the door keys or the keyless remote control pad. A "mass movement" sensor and inclination sensor are optionally available to supplement the security system's effectiveness. The mass-movement sensor guards the interior of the convertible much like a home-security system's motion detector. The inclination sensor determines if one end of the car is being lifted to help ward off car thieves bent on taking the entire vehicle.

The keyless remote has buttons to open the trunk (which takes two depressions within three seconds for release to reduce the risk of accidentally opening the trunk), lock/unlock the doors (as well as arm/disarm the security system) and a panic button to trigger the alarm.

The C70 Convertible shares safety features from its hard top cousin. They are: Two level trigger system for front air bags deployment, automatic door unlocking feature with frontal air bag deployment, antilock brakes with Electronic Brake Distribution to maximize brake performance under all conditions and all loads, seat belt pretensioners in all four seating positions, the steering column is equipped with three split points and, as a result, collapses further away from the driver in the event of certain types of collisions, Eye-level Light Emitting Diode (LED) brake light on the rear window which lights faster than the typical halogen built units, designed to reduce driver's reaction time, four air bags (two front and two side) to help protect front-seat occupants during both front and side impact, three point seat belts in all four seating positions, head restraints at all four seating positions.

Impala provides quality at every turn

"Some measure value in terms of quality, extensive safety features, roominess, convenience and a long list of innovative features," said Impala Brand Manager Don Parkinson. "Impala offers a thoughtful blend of all these characteristics."

Impala's solid structure is a primary enabler of excellent quality. Structural highlights include:

- A one-piece door ring and rear quarter stamping that provides greater dimensional accuracy for excellent door fits. It's also more rigid than a comparable welded unit, which lends additional strength and solidity to the overall body.

- Thicker-gauge steel where it makes sense, such as the rear-end panel and the beltline of the B-pillar

- Product simplification is another of Impala's quality enablers. Compared to the high-quality Lumina, Impala features a reduced number of build combinations, even though a greater number of features are available to Impala customers.

Impala requires 15 percent fewer parts, on average, than comparable Lumina models, and benefits from a dramatically simplified electrical system.

"Impala uses fewer electrical connections than Lumina," said Impala Electronics Engineer Judy Kines. "And the remaining wiring hardware is packaged to be more efficient and more reliable. We've achieved an 8 percent reduction in total wiring mass and a 31 percent reduction in wiring gauge size."

A quiet and serene vehicle interior is another primary measure of quality. To this end, Impala's engineers scrutinized every area of the vehicle to help identify and reduce potential sources of road noise, wind noise or bothersome vibration.

Specific noise reduction measures include the following:

- An extensive network of noise-absorbing patches, decouplers and foam insulation.

- Window seals have been improved, relative to previous designs, for enhanced isolation of wind noise

- Multec II fuel injectors operate more quietly than previous designs

- Impala's HVAC system also utilizes a new, shrouded cooling fan, which achieves a 10 percent noise reduction, relative to previous designs.

Using technology to redefine value

By integrating sophisticated technologies, Impala will offer customers high levels of functionality, dependability, security and convenience.

For example, approximately every two seconds, Impala's Class II electrical system executes a comprehensive diagnostic survey of all the vehicle systems to ensure that they are operating properly.

"Should the system detect anything out of the ordinary," explained Kines, "The data is either stored for later retrieval by a technician or displayed on the instrument panel."

Located within Impala's instrument panel is a reconfigurable telltale display. This is a small liquid crystal display that provides the driver with a continuous flow of information relative to Impala's operating condition. This feature communicates 17 different messages, many of which can help the driver take action to enhance the long-term durability of the powertrain and other critical vehicles systems.

Impala's audio systems also feature added functionality.

Impala features RDS-capable audio systems. RDS stands for Radio Data Systems, a new technology for transmitting digital signals encoded with multiple levels of information such as a radio station's format, signal strength, text messages, current time and traffic or weather bulletins.

Impala's audio system allows the customer to interface with the vehicle to tailor various functions that contribute to the vehicle's overall environment. For example, the driver may program the horn chirp that accompanies the remote power lock/unlock function, the length of time the dome lamps remains illuminated (from 0 to 60 seconds), and the volume of Impala's many warning chimes.

2000 Chevrolet Impala LS

Impala's remote keyless entry option with vehicle locator also comes with an innovative twist: the system comes with two key fobs. Each key fob will recall the audio system and vehicle environment settings (chime volume and interior lighting) programmed by the respective drivers.

A Very Smart Car

The following is a partial summary of the smart features that add up to enhanced convenience and peace of mind for the Impala customer:

- Battery Rundown Protection automatically shuts off courtesy lights to help protect the customer from inadvertently draining Impala's battery

- Content Theft-Deterrent System will activate the lights and horn if the doors are opened without authorized use

- Coolant Loss Protection will help Impala reach service (within up to 50 miles, depending on conditions) in the event of a loss of engine coolant

- Electrical Load Management. If the electrical system detects that the battery is not being properly charged, it automatically begins a process of selectively disabling low priority electrical components (such as air conditioning and the audio system) to ensure that the ignition system continues to operate as long as possible

- Lock-out Protection will now allow the power door locks to lock the driver's door if the keys are left in the ignition

- OnStar®. Available as a dealer-installed option, OnStar combines cellular phone and Global Positioning System (GPS) satellite technology and a 24-hour OnStar Center to provide Impala customers with added convenience and security

- Starter Interrupt will prevent the starter from engaging if the engine is already running, thereby preventing potential damage to the component.

Impala brings it all together

As Chevrolet's first car of the new millennium, the 2000 Impala is a flagship four-door sedan that Americans will be proud to own and will love to drive. As Parkinson explained, the new Impala represents the ultimate evolution of the Chevrolet formula. "Today's sedan buyers expect just one thing - everything. And they want it at a fair price. That's what Chevrolet Impala is all about. It's the car that sedan buyers want. It's the car they need. It's the car they deserve."

Protect Your Car's Engine By Using the Proper Fluids

Checking, filling or changing your vehicle's fluids regularly is critical to its longevity and performance. It also is important to choose the right product, especially in choosing the right grade of automatic transmission fluid (ATF) or motor oil.

"You can't just go to the local parts store or discount store and pick any quart off the shelf and expect it to work," warns Gabe Giordano, technical representative at Kendall Motor Oil. "Even for consumers who rely on 'do-it-for-me' outlets for service — whether it's a quick lube, tire store or car dealership — it's a good idea to review what fluid is being used to make sure it's what the owner's manual specifies."

Differentiation Among Some Cars' ATF Requirements

People who own a Ford or General Motors car can use a more versatile automatic transmission fluid product like Kendall Multi-Purpose ATF, which is approved for both GM Dexron® III Fluid and Ford Mercon® ATF specifications.

"Once you go beyond a GM or Ford vehicle, though, you should look at a different type of ATF, because each car manufacturer has a different design for its automatic transmissions," says Giordano.

More specifically, the clutch materials — components used to engage and disengage gears as the car shifts — vary from one automobile maker to another. This, in turn, affects and causes some variation in what Giordano refers to as the required "frictional characteristics" of the automatic transmission fluid. It is important to use what the owner's manual recommends.

Avoiding the "Oil is Oil" Mind-set

Even if a car gets an oil change every 3,000 miles, the owner needs to keep an eye on what type of motor oil is poured into the engine. In certain climates and in certain kinds of engines, an SAE grade 10W-30 product may be too high in viscosity (too thick).

Cars with multi-valve engines, for example, have overhead camshafts (above the valves as opposed to a camshaft built right into the engine block). This means that oil has farther to travel, and it has to be thin enough to move quickly and lubricate all parts of the engines to prevent it from "starving." Otherwise, start-up problems or accelerated engine wear can result. If your car has a multi-valve engine, Giordano recommends a lighter motor oil product, like Kendall Superb® 100 SAE 5W-30.

Changing your vehicle's fluids regularly is critical to its longevity and performance. Oil changes with a quality oil like Kendall Superb® 100 SAE 5W-30, are inexpensive insurance for longer engine life.

Following a Maintenance Schedule

In making sure that all fluids for the car are at the proper levels, Kendall strongly encourages consumers to refer again to the owner's manual, which should contain a maintenance schedule for your car. Where you live and how many miles you drive per year are important considerations, too. The Kendall experts recommend having your mechanic check the following key fluids regularly:

- Antifreeze
- Power-steering fluid
- Automatic transmission fluid
- Motor oil
- Brake fluid

Subaru announces February sales figures

Best February Total Sales Month Since 1989

Subaru of America, Inc. (SOA) today announced its February sales figures. Subaru recorded a sales total of 11,095 units for the month, up 12 percent over the same period last year. Year-to-date totals of 20,926 units are up 11 percent over 1998 year-to-date totals. February 1999 marks the best February total sales month since 1989.

The Legacy model line led sales with 6,567 units posted. Outback sales were up over 15 percent (4,282 units) versus 1998 February Outback sales (3,716 units). Forester posted 3,373 units, an increase of 53 percent over the same month last year.

Subaru of America, Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd. of Japan. Headquartered near Philadelphia, the company markets and distributes Subaru vehicles, parts and accessories through a network of nearly 600 franchised dealers across the United States. All Legacy models sold in the U.S., including the Outback and Sport Utility the company's American manufacturing plant, Subaru-Isuzu Automotive, Inc., near Lafayette, Ind.

Weight Loss and Inflation are Factors in Tire Wear

Have you taken a look at your tires lately? Since they're the only thing between you and the pavement, maybe it's time for a close inspection. This means getting the car off the ground and onto a lift.

Tires are designed to last many thousands of miles through just about every conceivable road condition, says Car Care Council. It's not the road that is responsible for premature tire wear, it's neglect. Following are three chief causes of early tire wear or failure.

1. INCORRECT INFLATION. Under-inflated tires tend to wear along the sides while over-inflation wears a strip down the middle of the tread.

Radial tires always tend to look a little soft but do not be fooled and assume inflation is correct. If you don't already own one, buy a tire gauge and use it monthly.

2. INCORRECT ALIGNMENT. Periodic adjustments to steering and suspension components generally will correct this misalignment. You'll also enjoy improved steering and handling after having this important service done, and your tires will last longer, as well.

3. WHEELS OUT OF BALANCE. Tires that wear unevenly often are victims of this condition. The loss of just one balancing weight from the wheel rim, due to impact with a pot hole or curb, can be enough to throw a wheel out of balance.

A rocky road

Report says Lake County drivers are in for gridlock even if current improvement plans are completed

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

Congested roads are becoming an increasing aggravation for Lake County residents — and if you think the problem is bad now, just wait another 20 years.

"It's not going to get any better unless something is done," said David Lutyens, project director of the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project.

The project is a joint venture between the Illinois Department of Transportation and Illinois State Toll Highway Authority which is studying the existing road and mass transit system in the county and attempting to identify solutions to transportation problems.

The project's Transportation System Performance Report, which was released in January, surveyed Lake County residents about the road system. Most people agreed traffic congestion is a serious problem. During the afternoon "rush," which extends two hours, approximately one third of the roadways are considered congested.

Lutyens said by the year 2020 two-thirds of the roads will be congested, even if all the road construction projects currently planned are completed.

"Everybody's complaining now. Just think what it's going to be like in 2020," he said.

The report identifies 30 miles of road widening improvement projects that are scheduled to be completed over the next 20 years. The report also identifies an additional 44 miles that "aren't yet funded but could be planned," according to Lutyens.

"We're looking at major problem areas," said Pete Harmet, deputy project manager. "Are we going to solve them all? No."

Transportation officials are attempting to deal with transportation problems caused by the dramatic population growth of Lake County. Between 1970 and 1990, Lake County's population grew 35 percent from 382,638 people to 516,418.

"We see that trend continuing," said Lutyens, a transportation consultant who previously worked for IDOT for 35 years. "We see another 250,000 people (moving) up here by the year 2020."

The report examines all major aspects of the county's transportation system, not just roads. It also studies mass transit services such as the Metro train and Pace bus services.

But the greatest need the survey identified was improving the road system. According to the survey, 88 percent of work trips by Lake County residents are made by automobile, while rail accounts for 3.7 percent and bus .5 percent. The remaining trips are by motorcycle, walking or bicycling.

"Three-fourths of the people we polled thought the No. 1 priority was doing something about the roads," said Harmet.

Currently there are 1.73 million daily vehicle trips in Lake County, according to the report. While not discounting the need for improvements to east-west roads, Harmet said the predominant flow of traffic seems to be north and south. That's because many people are commuting back and forth to their jobs in downtown Chicago or northward up to Milwaukee, he said.

One of the more controversial north-south projects identified in the report is the proposed expansion of Route 53. Lutyens said Route 53 is just one of the issues still under study.

"This is a ground up approach putting this thing together," said Lutyens. "Again, Route 53 is on the table. It never went away."

But he emphasized: "This study isn't just about Route 53. It's about looking at major improvement projects in Lake County. It may or may not include Route 53."

The project team, which consists of Lutyens, Harmet and deputy project manager Chris Snyder, has been speaking to meetings of community and business groups and local transportation officials to outline the findings of the recent report.

The report is part of a two-year process to evaluate potential alternative transportation improvements in the project study area. The findings of the report will be used to develop long-term transportation plans and solutions.

The Lake County Transportation Improvement Project is still seeking public input. It has established an office in Mundelein and can be reached by telephone at 438-3442.

Striking a balance

Referendum supporters say forest preserves are a balance to growth

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

Balance is a word that Lake County Forest Preserve President Carol Calabresa uses a lot when she talks about the upcoming forest preserve referendum on the April 13 ballot.

"I think the residents of Lake County have always appreciated the special resources we have in Lake County. With all the growth we've seen, we need a balance to that growth. We're looking to the future to make sure there are enough public access lands available for future generations," Calabresa said.

Supporters of the forest preserve referendum are gearing up for the upcoming referendum, which asks Lake County voters if they will support a $55 million bond issue to help improve and expand the forest preserve system.

The "Friends of the Forest Preserve" will officially kickoff the referendum campaign with the opening of its referendum office. A office warming and campaign kickoff will be held from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 6 at the campaign headquarters at 411 S. Milwaukee, Libertyville. A campaign theme will be chosen at that time and early supporters will be recognized.

The "Friends of the Forest Preserve" will help raise funds to promote the referendum and coordinate the activities of campaign volunteers. Linda Kellough, a Highland Park resident, will be the campaign manager for the referendum.

Calabresa said the message of the campaign is a simple but important one.

"We're just trying to balance the growth. We want to protect the land while it's still available and interest rates are low. We've got to preserve land while it's still available, particularly environmentally sensitive land," he said.

The referendum would provide a total of $35 million for the purchase of new forest preserve land. With that additional money, Calabresa said the forest preserve district would be able to acquire 5,000 new acres, thereby increasing the total acreage of forest preserve land from 21,000 to 26,000 acres.

About $20 million would be used for habitat restoration and other improvements to the existing forest preserve system. Kellough said she

Hastings Lake YMCA seeks funds from 'heroes'

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Hastings Lake YMCA offers county residents a chance to become heroes for children.

Metro-Chicago YMCA officials, friends, parents, and Hastings Lake Board members kicked off their "Kids Need Heroes" fund-raising campaign Tuesday, Feb. 23. The evening dinner included testimonials from adults who knew from personal experience the impact that YMCA camp experiences have on the life of a child.

County area residents will be encouraged to contribute money to allow children to attend summer camp. The money will go to help children who can not otherwise afford the experience of Hastings Lake YMCA camps.

"We are looking to raise $88,000 this year," said Mary Ann Schiltz, who introduced the campaign fund effort. She encouraged board members to tell people the story of the Hastings Lake YMCA experience and how it can affect the lives of children who otherwise may have no chance to attend camp.

Molly Donahue is a member of the Parent Advisory Committee. She spoke to dinner attendees of her personal experiences with Hastings Lake YMCA camp staff. Her children have been able to attend the camp for many years.

"For the past number of years I've been coming here, it has had a profound impact on my children," she said. "Over the years, there is a stronger and stronger bond between them and here."

Donohue said that her children have made friendships at camp that have carried them through the next year. They have learned about a world they otherwise would never have seen. Summer camp filled her children's minds with happy memories of positive experiences.

"You've all made it possible for my kids to come here, and I thank you," she told fund raisers.

Hastings Lake YMCA Senior Executive Director Jim Scherer described the type of campaign they will conduct. "This campaign, first and foremost, is a neighbor to neighbor campaign, a member to member campaign, a friend to friend campaign."

Scherer said that last year's campaign gave 500 families the chance to be at Hastings Lake. "It changed those lives," he said.

"Camping is really unique," Gordon Kaplan said. He is the Executive Director of the American Camping Association, Illinois Section. He pre-

Forest Preserve referendum will help balance growth

Whether you have lived in Lake County a month, a year or a lifetime, you have undoubtedly noticed that open space seems to disappear daily in this county.

The Lake County Forest Preserve is seeking a $55 million referendum on the April 13 ballot to preserve additional land before it is lost to development. The Forest Preserve has proven time and again that it can preserve land at a reasonable cost.

Proponents of the plan say a balance must be struck between growth and land preservation. Preserving the county's environmentally sensitive land makes sense. Educating county residents that their home is also the habitat of more endangered species than any other county in Illinois underscores the importance of land preservation.

The message of the Forest Preserve campaign is simple but effective—preserve the land while it's available and interest rates are low.

Plans call for $35 million to be spent on acquiring 5,000 acres or more increasing the Forest Preserve land holdings to 26,000 acres.

An additional $20 million will be used for habitat restoration and other improvements to the existing Forest Preserves.

Opponents of the referendum say for each acre of land that is preserved, the existing land becomes even more expensive for developers to buy, thus feeding the economic circle which dictates that new homes will cost even more in the future.

The argument might make sense to business leaders, but won't land prices continue to rise with or without additional preservation of open space?

Given the alternative, wouldn't we all rather have more balance?

After all, developers sell Lake County on their brochures by pitching its Forest Preserves and programs, given that shouldn't they also support the continuation of these programs to ensure their buyers are well-served in Lake County.

Development will continue to come to Lake County and along with it will come more jobs and more opportunities for residents.

Lake Countians enjoy a robust economy with a rosy job outlook. Shouldn't they also balance that good fortune with the beauty of open space and the ability to preserve for the next generation the fading natural beauty of Lake County which has attracted so many of us to settle here.

We heartily support the ballot question.

Study results in: Road work needed now

There is something we just can't understand and it has to do with roads.

According to David Lutyens, project director for the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project, drivers in Lake County are headed for more gridlock. Worse, even if every road improvement project planned to date is completed by the year 2020, we will still have massive traffic problems based on projected population growth.

Then, the simple solution is, put all the planned projects into road gear and start dreaming up new solutions right now to help us with the future. Right?

Wrong.

Even though current road projects are on the drawing board, Lutyens is quick to point out even those plans are not chiseled in stone, meaning there is no guarantee that some of the areas in the county will see any kind of traffic relief through road improvements in the next two decades. Thirty miles of roads are already slated for work but another 44 miles "aren't yet funded but could be planned."

We know the wheels of government sometimes grind slowly when all the various agencies, both funding and environmental, as well as public input, lock horns on any issue. There must be studies, then more studies, then even more, but let's put this in perspective. There are some roads in the state that have been the subject of studies since the 1950s and have still not realized any improvements. If any of these officials were standing on railroad tracks and saw a train coming head on, would they implement a study first to decide what should be done or would they drop everything they are doing and make a decision? We know it can be done because we've had an effective interstate highway system in place for more than 30 years.

Lake County drivers, you're about to be hit head on and those who have the ability to prevent it are still mired in red tape. It's time for them to get off the tracks and back onto the road.

Reality of Y2K no small wonder

VIEWPOINT

As a kid, I was a worry wort. Only I didn't know I was worrying. I thought I was just wondering about stuff.

Wondering why I had to wear knickers when other boys wore long pants? Or why piano practice was one hour instead of half that long? Or why my brother was better looking and more popular?

Why did I have to be home before dark when the other kids could ride their bikes around the neighborhood until 9 o'clock? How come I had to eat oatmeal for breakfast when other kids ate Wheaties—with the picture on the box?

About age 8 or 9 I got to wondering one day whether I'd live long enough to see the year 2000. That seemed like a long time away besides being an interesting goal to achieve. Mom allayed longevity fears in a hurry, offering homespun advice for a sure path to that far away event like always eating my vegetables; bundling up warm and wearing a cap in winter. Get plenty of sleep. Apply lots of Vicks when a case of the sniffles develops. Never eat green apples or too much ice cream. Keep eating that wonderful oatmeal.

Those suggestions must have worked (or at least they didn't hurt) because here we are, only 10 months away from 2000 and the magic millennium. Now the small boy who worried about living long enough to see 2000 has turned to wondering about how to manage predicted Y2K stumbling blocks.

Let's leave the technical aspects of coping with potential Y2K pitfalls to the computer techies and new age know-it-alls. My plans for fending off Y2K glitches don't involve much more than stocking up on canned goods, avoiding New Years Eve travel and putting away a few greenbacks just in case the banks run into some problems. I don't subscribe to theories that airplanes will fall from the sky the moment the clock strikes 12 midnight on Dec. 31. But why tempt fate?

I'm following the lead of my golfing partner, Sam, who already has decided to turn in early Friday night, the 31st, so he'll be ready to start the new day, the new year and the new millennium next morning. No junketing to an exotic place. New Years weekend to celebrate. I figure Sam is on to something. He's a pretty sharp guy, a school teacher and an assistant principal to boot. Sorry if you think you got tricked into another Y2K column. I'm not worrying or even wondering anymore. Unless Jan. 1, 2000 is a cloudy day, the sun will shine. What's the big deal?

Remembering Joan

A nearly three-mile-long funeral procession bespoke of the love and admiration countless persons from all walks of life held for Joan Marsh Legat, 62, who carved a remarkable record of community service while battling bouts of cancer for 20 years.

The Waukegan resident was put to rest last Saturday at Ascension Cemetery, Libertyville. Even while fighting off recurring cancers, she intensified her daily pace following civic and charitable pursuits, following a schedule that would have exhausted two persons.

Joan achieved well deserved recognition for her support and leadership of the College of Lake County Foundation. But for those who could read beyond the headlines, she was known for myriad acts of kindness and help for people and causes that were known only to Joan and the recipient. That's the kind of person she was. Condolences to her husband, Joe, a prominent ar-

Denny deciding

Congressman John Porter (R-Winnetka) has the job of twisting the arm of House Speaker Dennis Hastert to agree to addressing the annual Lake County Republican Federation Spring Dinner Friday, April 30.

Hastert never has made an official visit to Lake County. Gov. George W. Bush promised fellow Texans that he would be home bound until June so dinner planners scratched him from their speaker list.

Protest slaughter

Horse lovers are planning to pack a meeting of the McHenry County Board at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 16, for a public hearing on a permit application to operate a facility for slaughtering horses for human consumption. More than 200 persons protested at a Feb. 9 meeting. A packing company aims to ship horsemeat to Europe for gourmet meals. The McHenry County is regarded as ideal by the packers because it has the largest horse population in Illinois. Members of the Barrington Hills Riding Club are among the vocal opponents.

Crane upbeat

Congressman Phil Crane (R-Ill.), addressing a hometown audience last weekend, left no doubt about his disdain for weak-kneed Republicans in the vote to impeach President Clinton. Crane called them "Finger Lick 'em" senators. Crane never referred to Clinton by name. "The American people deserve what they went through with this person," Crane spat out.

Looking to the future, Crane told GOP partisans that the 2000 election presents a "unique opportunity" to add seats in both the House and Senate and capture the White House. "I'm not negative or pessimistic about 2000," Crane declared.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SMC protects natural resources

Stormwater Management Commission (SMC) is strengthening its Watershed Development Ordinance to better protect natural resources needed to control flooding. With the new County Board endorsing smart growth, SMC has the opportunity to update regulations and their enforcement. Homebuilders have had their day, and we are paying for it.

Revision is critical to better implement flood control regulations incorporating new knowledge and what we have learned from past mistakes. Development affected the watersheds, causing problems for property owners. These revisions are, in part, a reaction to escalating flooding in Lake County. It would be foolish to not use common sense and expert knowledge to help protect residents from the ravages of development.

If you have experienced flooding, now of watershed problems or had no recourse to enforce violations affecting your property, send your public comment to SMC, 333-B Peterson Rd., Libertyville, IL 60048 to arrive by March 8. This is your opportunity to help make Lake County a finer and safer place to live.

Malls don't belong in residential settings

My family has a number of concerns about having the mall at the corner of Route 12 and Old McHenry Road.

With no major east-west highway, the likelihood of such a shopping center succeeding is questionable. If it is horrifying to live next to a lively, busy, noisy mall it is TERRIFYING to live next to a dead one. "Dead" shopping centers are well-known as crime-magnets and eyesores.

Malls do not belong in the middle of a pastoral residential area. We don't even have a gas station or a convenience store in this area. If Hawthorn Woods as a Village opposes the extension of Route 53, how can we be in favor of this?

The residents of both North Barrington and Hawthorn Woods have repeatedly voiced their opposition to this project. The Lake County Board concurs.

We urge you and the planning/zoning commission to discourage this project.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Grand Marshal Venita facing new horizons

Venita McConnell, grand dame of west Lake County politics, went out in style as president of the 8th Congressional Dist. Republican Club, winning a standing ovation from members and a new title, Field Marshal.

McConnell, 70, former village clerk of Wauconda who once campaigned for Lake County clerk, turned over her gavel to Bob Neal of Wadsworth at a dinner at Concorde Banquets, Kildeer, before the biggest turnout in the club's history.

The no-holds-barred Republican partisan with a ready wit is moving to Mt. Carroll in northwestern Illinois where her husband John will be able to fish and farm, and she can pursue her love of politics in a new arena. Venita said one of her goals will be retiring liberal Democrat Congressman Lane Evans. If you know Venita, you know she's not kidding.

The Field Marshal title was bestowed by County Clerk Willard Helander who presented McConnell with a four star military helmet and a Patton-style riding crop before reading "Ode to the McConnell Brigade." Helander attributes her hard-fought victory over Linda Hess last November to the campaign strategy orchestrated by McConnell.

Venita stationed herself at the exit door to shake hands with each of the 190 guests. GOP activists were happy and sad at the same time, happy for Venita's new chapter and sad to see a powerhouse personality bow out of Lake County politics.

Mueller favored

Bean: Has good vibes over referendum dorsing him. His backers include Dr. William C. Dam of Fox Lake, the agency chairman, who is serving as Mueller's campaign chairman. Mueller is rated a strong favorite over Roy Gundelach of Ingleside. There are three candidates running for the two McHenry County seats up for election.

New chief

Jim Thacker has taken over as chief of staff for Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th), replacing Kurt Johnson, who left politics for the private sector. Thacker is rated an astute political tactician. He guided Al Salvi to an upset victory in the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate in 1996. Thacker previously served as chief of staff for Congressman Don Manzullo, a Republican representing a northern tie of Illinois counties along the Wisconsin stateline.

Less anger

Joe Bean, president of the embattled Cook Memorial Library District, says he has good vibes over the impending referendum on rebuilding in downtown Libertyville. "A lot of the anger and emotion involved in our previous referendum is gone. People like the plan to maintain the main library in Libertyville." Voters slapped down a previous proposition to build a larger library in the

Speed trap

Fox Lake Trustee Alan R. Prouty is making news this week but not for being the youngest trustees on a village board.

Prouty, 18, was arrested on charges of speeding, disobeying a stop sign and disobeying a Lake Villa police officer after police stopped his car on Monville Road Feb. 24.

A role model for us geezers

I wasn't looking for a role model, Andy Rooney just popped up on the tube saying things that fit the way I feel.

In our younger days my four brothers and I had to look no further than our father. As brother Earl says, "He was a great man. He never swore, he never complained. I'll never be as good a man as he was."

Earl came close enough; he also became a fine father to five boys, passing along the values bequeathed by our dad.

Young people need role models but grown-ups don't, do they? If so, that person certainly should be an elder, so I could choose Paul Newman — except we look too much alike. People would think we were twins.

No, the guy I want to be like when I grow up some more is Andy Rooney, the "60 Minutes" television humorist. I always enjoy his Sunday evening commentaries but what sold me was his recent interview on "Larry King Live."

Rooney, who is 80, still writes two newspaper columns a week in addition to his amusing TV skit.

When Larry King asked his age, Rooney griped: "I'm 80 years old and I just hate it. I think of it nine times an hour."

"I am loving my life so much and I am approaching the end of it. This is a constant negative thought in my mind."

Larry: "I'll bet 20 years ago if someone said you'd make it to 80, you'd have said, 'I'll take it!'"

Andy: "I used to think about 83, but I'm not ready for that either."

Larry: "You don't want to go..."

Andy: "I absolutely do not want to go. Something has to be done about that, Larry."

These were some of Andy's other remarks in the interview:

"President Clinton says his relationship with Monica Lewinsky is a private matter between him, his family and their God. But I doubt if God wants any part of that mess."

"Clinton is like Mike Tyson. He's good at what he does but terrible at what he is."

THE PFARR CORNER

"Hillary Clinton won't run for the Senate from New York. Too many things would come out. The White-water problems would emerge, and there's the carpetbagger thing (a nonresident or new resident who meddles in politics). She won't run. I don't know why they're going through this charade."

Andy says he took the "60 Minutes" gig because he felt he could write about anything; but he said ideas don't come like in cartoons, with a light bulb appearing over someone's head. "You sit down at a typewriter and decide to damn well have an idea."

King called him an American treasure and a world-class curmudgeon. Rooney agreed with the latter label. In fact, a reference book, "The Portable Curmudgeon" by Jon Winokur, includes him along with such cranky old cusses as Robert Benchley, William Buckley, W.C. Fields, Groucho Marx, Mike Royko and Mark Twain. A Rooney-ism from the book: "The average dog is a nicer person than the average person."

"Will you someday retire?" Larry asked.

Rooney: "Retire?"

Larry: "Yeah, right. Retire to what?"

Letters welcome

Letters to the editor are welcome. They should be on topics of general interest, approximately 250 words or less. All letters must be signed, and contain a home address and telephone number. The editor reserves the right to condense all letters.

Voters have a voice on development projects

It has been almost a year ago when I wrote here that the "re-making of Gurnee" should be troubling concern for communities throughout Lake County. I quoted Mayor Richard Welton, who at the time said that residential development was at a "critical mass" because there wasn't much more room for it, but there was "much more to look forward on commercial development."

That column was written at the behest of an Antioch woman who has fears that her beloved community would become, in her words, "another Gurnee." This time I am writing at the request of a long-time Gurnee couple who said, "What you wrote bears some repeating because they're still at it."

From all that I am hearing, many citizens of Gurnee aren't looking forward to Mayor Welton's never-ending development crusade. The CURV group (Citizens United for a Residential Village) have filed for an advisory vote in the April 13

SEEING IT THROUGH

election on the $400 million Six Flags Entertainment Village. That's not the kind of "village" the citizens want in their community.

Comments from Welton seem to indicate that "his side" will stick with their approval of the major project, no matter what the April vote. Some residents have told me, though, that they see a change in the mayor's usual "coolness" at public hearings and board meetings, so that it may be that "people pressure" is getting to him.

Gurnee citizens aren't the only county people standing up to be heard against what they call "over-development" in their communities. Citizens in both Hawthorn Woods and North Barrington have filed for referendums to withhold their villages from approving a massive shopping mall until the voters are heard from.

Until recently, most of the "heat" against "over-development" and "urban sprawl" has been directed at the county board. But, now the citizens are waking up to the fact that it is happening right in their "own back yards" in incorporated areas or on neighboring sites where developers are looking to annex to their villages.

Whenever large-scale developers throw their pitch to invade your community, they throw loosely words like "progress" and "enhancing property values," and "bringing extra taxes" which somehow, but never happens, reduces yours. Sure, all of the sales taxes that a mega-project brings in may reduce your village or municipality tax, but when you look at your tax bill, that's not the taxing body digging into your "deep pockets."

Although Mayor Welton may be at the "top of the list" when it comes to being "hell-bent for development" now that "Bull-dozer Bob" Depke has escaped the political landscape, it is almost an occupational hazard for mayors and municipal policy-makers to heed the wishes of the large-scale developers. That leaning can shift when more citizens take the "bull by the horns" and insist that they have a greater "say-so" on what goes on in their communities.

Since the developers like to throw words around to promote their mega-projects, I don't believe that citizens can come up with anything better than their own interpretation of "quality of life." After all, that is why families choose to live in certain communities. They don't want congestion and they don't want our precious open spaces covered with concrete and asphalt.

I have said for some time that this mad rush for every community to compete to see which can out-build the other will stop only when politicians will decide that "it's good politics" to bring some balance to the building frenzy. What do you know? They are "getting the message." In the state legislature, there is a Task Force on Urban Sprawl. Across the country, lawmakers are hearing from their constituents to do something about "runaway growth."

So, citizens in communities like Gurnee must take the lead, so that their leaders can follow them. I don't know how the citizens will vote in the April election, but I do know that it is difficult for elected policy-makers to enact that which is contrary to the will of the people.

They always say that nothing is as strong as an idea whose time has come. I believe that citizens all over Lake County are gaining strength in the idea that curbing over-development is an "idea whose time has come." Catch up to that idea, politicians, or "your time will come."

LETTERS

the 3,300 people who voted no, we apologize for failing to get the "true" message across to you.

To the winner, Jack Martin and Pat Connors, for you and a very few people who benefit by over-development, you were willing to spend the money, and, I suspect, a great deal of money, to make those 5,400 telephone calls over the weekend, and deserve some grudging credit.

To Libertyville Township, the Open Space team offers our apology for allowing Jack Martin and Pat Connors to win the day on an issue no one should have opposed, if the public were really given the true facts.

However, we must all keep in mind "Good or bad, the public always deserves the government it gets," by who they vote for or against. The real sad part of this story, only 23 percent of the public bothered to vote on this issue that can spell the death knell for all the remaining Open Space in Libertyville township. Nearly all complain about what's wrong, but only one in four bother to vote. What's wrong with this picture?

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Co-founder of Lambs Farm dies

Libertyville—Bob Terese, co-founder of Lambs Farm, died Feb. 21 at the age of 74.

Terese suffered from various ailments including heart problems and diabetes, until he asked to be taken off of life support.

A memorial service will be held March 5 at 11 a.m. at Libertyville Covenant Church. Following the service will be an open house at the Lambs Farm restaurant from 12 to 3 p.m.

Terese, an Elgin resident, was semi-retired, but stayed active with Lambs Farm until a week prior to his death, Flood said.

He is survived by his wife Mary Ruth, son Michael, daughter Carol Korytko and five grandchildren.

Memorials may be sent to the Lambs Farm Founders Fund, P.O. Box 520, Libertyville, IL 60048.

Police involved in lengthy standoff

Vernon Hills—A man was arrested following a lengthy standoff with police.

James S. McNamee, 46, of the 600 block of Westmoreland, was arrested and charged with unlawful use of a weapon and aggravated assault for the March 1 through 2 incident.

At approximately 4:23 p.m. on March 1 Vernon Hills Police responded to the call after McNamee had pointed a gun at his neighbors.

As police arrived McNamee retreated, alone, into his residence.

The standoff until police used an approximately 3 a.m. on March 2, after negotiations had failed, police threw a canister of OC, an inflammatory agent, through an exterior window of McNamee's residence prompting him to surrender.

Nobody was hurt in the incident.

Historians learn of barns' beauty

Antioch—Members of the Lakes Region Historical Society met Thursday, Feb. 25 to stop, look, and listen to the history and future fate of Lake County barns.

Nancy Burgess, of the Save-a-Barn Foundation, presented a selection of slides to document county barns of all shapes, sizes, and styles. More than 100 barns will eventually appear in a book about Lake County barns that she has completed. She is trying to raise money to help her publish the four-color, hard cover book.

Burgess makes her presentations to educate and interest people about county barn history. She seeks financial supporters, the Save-a-Barn Foundation, sells green T-shirts, post cards, and posters.

The foundation was created to save Lake County barns. She said that if people do not help save them, they will be destroyed.

The Save-A-Barn hotline is 847-913-9464. There is also a web site (www.nsn.org/eakhome/savebarn).

Debevic retirement gathers friends

Lake Villa—Village residents, friends, colleagues, and police officers gathered at the Lake Villa Veterans of Foreign Wars Post on Thursday evening, Feb. 25 to honor retiring Chief of Police John Debevic.

Village officials presented Debevic with a gold retirement badge in recognition of his years of service at the village board meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 24.

At the Thursday retirement party, people spoke briefly of their association with Debevic and gave him additional gifts, some of which were personal. He was given police memorabilia, a photograph of department officers, numerous boxes of cigars, several gift certificates, clothing items, and equipment to help him catch fish.

Debevic spoke briefly. "All I can say is 'thanks everybody. It's been a pleasure working here.'"

Housing development proposed

Mundelein—The Mundelein Village Board voted Monday night to draft an ordinance in regards to a proposed senior citizen housing development.

Ashbrook Senior Housing Community, being proposed by Peter Feurich of 2000 Millennium Corporation, would be located on Midlothian Road near Cambridge Country Homes. The housing community would consist of 60 condominium units and 90 assisted-living units. According to current plans, there will be 20 units per acre, within the five three-story buildings.

Many residents attended the Monday night meeting to express concern over increased traffic and noise from the development. The village board said it will work on addressing those concerns.

Board supports state funding plan

Gurnee—At Woodland School District's Feb. 25 board meeting, board members expressed their support for house bills 559 and 230, which would help relieve the district of any financial burden from the Prairie Crossing Charter School.

Despite the school board's denial of the charter school, it was approved in December by the Illinois State Board of Education. As a result, Woodland district will have to pay the per capita amount for each student, which is currently $5,300, to the charter school. The charter school is hoping for a minimum of 190 students from Woodland School District to attend the school, which would result in the district paying approximately $1 million for students who would not attend Woodland schools.

House bill 559 would relieve public schools of the financial burden of charter schools. Whoever granted the charter, in this case the Illinois State Board of Education, would be responsible for financing the charter school.

Island Lake man faces jail

Wauconda—Damian K. Jackson of Island Lake plead guilty last week to the charge of aggravated driving under the influence, in an accident which severely injured his friend.

Jackson, 23, agreed to the plea on Feb. 23 before Lake County Circuit Judge Raymond McKoski, in exchange for a sentence not likely to include a prison term. Jackson will be sentenced on March 31.

Jackson was the driver of a 1997 Chevy Z28, owned by his friend, Joshua D. Niggemann, 22, which crashed into the back end of a semi-trailer truck, at 11:30 p.m. Sept. 30, on northbound Route 12, just north of Cook Street. Niggemann suffered major head, chest and leg injuries, and remains unable to walk.

World Day of Prayer

Ingleside—A group of women from churches in Ingleside and Round Lake are gathering Friday for a benefit to help less fortunate women in Venezuela. Friday, March 5, is World Day of Prayer, a celebration started in 1887 by Presbyterian laywoman Mary Ellen James, and sponsored by the United States by Church Women United since 1941.

World Day of Prayer brings together women of various races, cultures and Christian traditions in informed prayer and prayerful action. This year's service, "Gods Tender Touch," is a play, written by Christian women of Venezuela, and celebrates the gift of God's love.

St. Bede Women's Club is sponsoring this year's service, at St. Bede Catholic Church, at the corners of Wilson Road and Route 59, beginning at 1 p.m. March 5. There is no admission, however a collection plate will be passed.

Village approves water tower

Fox Lake—Officials approved a bid to build an 130-foot elevated water storage tank on Ernest Avenue, at The Art-Works building, 23 South Street, at a cost of $688,100.

The bid was approved at the board's March 1 meeting. A contract with CB&I Constructors Inc., of Chicago is expected to be approved at the board's March 8 meeting.

The new tank will hold 250,000 gallons of water, quadrupling the old 120-foot, 60,000 tank in the same location. That tank will be taken down after the new tank is completed in late October. Fox Lake has a 150-foot, 500,000 gallon tank behind its village hall.

Townhome project approved

Wauconda—Village trustees approved rezoning and preliminary plat ordinances for Sunset Ridge Townhomes by a 4-1 vote, at the March 2 board meeting.

The project will involve the construction of 90 townhome units in 15 buildings on two adjacent parcels, totaling 11.61 acres, at the northwest corner of Route 176 and Hill St. The land was rezoned from R-3, single family to a maximum of duplex, to R-5, multi-family.

Sunset Ridge will be developed by C & H Development Company, of Arlington Heights, which intends to break ground in June, and complete the project in 25 months.

Girl attacked by dog

Round Lake Beach—A 5-year old Round Lake Beach girl was attacked by a stray dog on March 1.

She was transported to Condell Medical Center and treated for bites to her head and face. The girl was later released.

Round Lake Beach police officers had separated the stray from another dog earlier in the day, but were unable to apprehend it.

The stray returned to the area at approximately 1 p.m. and attacked the girl when she attempted to pet it.

Lake County Chief Animal Warden Len Hackl said the dog is a male lab and shepherd mix with a red collar, but no tags.

At this point animal control as well community service officers are going door to door in hopes of locating the owner of the dog, said Hackl.

Building inspector change proposed

Wadsworth—The Wadsworth Village Board of Trustees Tuesday night tabled two proposed ordinances which would change the building inspector services and raise building permit fees.

The proposal would change the building inspection services from "in-house" Wadsworth based inspectors to that of Independent Inspections Ltd., a Wisconsin-based inspection firm.

The village hall was crowded with residents who voiced opposition to the plan and concerns about the response time and fees of the new firm.

Trustee Evelyn Hoselton said local builders will lose a personal touch they receive in dealing with the Wadsworth-based inspectors.

Trustee Ron Trahan said he would like to table the motion until an inspector from Independent Inspections Ltd. is available to answer any questions the board or the public may have.

Five Elements of H.A.P.P.Y. Customer Service

Service is a critical element of success in a service economy. For all businesses, of all sizes quality service is a must.

However, today's customer is a tough and unforgiving judge. The customer demands better care and we must deliver better service to survive. Here are some thoughts to guide you on your quality improvement journey.

H.A.P.P.Y. Care

• Hassle free. I define hassle-free service as "quick, convenient and complete."

Several weeks ago I rented a car from a local company. As I approached the desk, three young men were in sight. (Two on the phone and one behind a cubicle wall apparently doing paper work.)

After a brief wait, one of the men on the phone cupped his hand over the receiver and shouted across the room to tell the one not on the phone to "get the guy at the counter." A few seconds later I was "got."

They had rented all of the car model I'd reserved, so I accepted the minivan offered at the same price. Then the real wait began. I had to wait several minutes while the back seats were replaced. Then I waited 10 more minutes while they added gas to the tank. When I checked the gauge there was a quarter tank of gas. I commented on this and the rental clerk replied, "No problem, just bring it back with the same amount." Quality service is simple: Have the car reserved, eliminate the wait and fill the tank so the renter doesn't have to add gas twice.

My rental car experience was neither quick, convenient nor complete. My advice for the company who picks you up: Try harder.

• Always improving. One thing I've noticed about companies who give great service is that they never give it a rest. Today's great service is never good enough. Their long-term goal is perfection. Their short-term goal is excellence.

To improve your service you must measure how you're doing. Then you must find ways to please the customer even more. Look outside your own company for improvement ideas. Adapt good concepts and raise the standard.

• People centered. The key to great service is great people. Quality service can only come from people who are trained carefully and love to serve.

My advice is to hire C.U.T.E. people. The "C" stands for caring and friendly, the "U" for untiring, the "T" for truthful and the "E" for enthusiastic.

• Promise keepers. Keeping your promises is not the ultimate goal of a company focused on improving its customer service. Being a promise keeper is the foundation of great customer service. It is a minimum base to build on.

For example, if you repair automobiles and promise to have a customer's car ready by 5 p.m., you haven't given you great service if you finish the car at 5 p.m. Build on that foundation by vacuuming the carpets, cleaning the windows, or picking the customer up at work, etc.

• Yearly assessment. Great service companies give themselves regular checkups. They ask tough questions. I've included a few

Grayslake interior designer loves her job

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

It takes a sharp eye to know just what a room needs to come to life. Barbara Bertler, owner of Window & Wall Concepts in Grayslake, has that skill and many others.

After earning a degree in design from the University of Wisconsin in 1982, she worked for a drapery and blind manufacturer in California, then moved back to her home town, Chicago, to become a designer for Bloomingdale's.

But working for someone else was not her calling. In 1989, Bertler opened Window & Wall Concepts on Route 83 in Grayslake.

"I basically felt I had the know how and confidence to start my own business," she said.

At the time, her store was only 500 square feet and she worked alone. Today the business, that has moved to 827 E. Center Street, is 2,000-square-feet and has grown to maintain one part-time and two full-time employees.

Enter Bertler's showroom and you feel right at home. On display are the latest styles in custom draperies, top treatments, blinds, wall coverings and coordinating room accessories.

"We do all kinds of custom drapery, pillows, reupholstery, slip covers, and blinds," said Bertler.

Proper window treatments coordinated with wall coverings can become the most effective elements in a room's decor, said Bertler. She regularly works with customers who want to give a new look to an existing room as well as with new homeowners who are starting from scratch.

Bertler is proud that many of her customers return for more business and refer her to other clients.

"We have a loyal clientele in part due to our service," said Bertler. "Instead of just selling a product, we treat people as family."

She has worked with clients as far north as the Wisconsin border and as far south as Homewood. Many homes in Grayslake's new subdivisions reflect her decorating skills.

Bertler has also designed the interiors of a variety of local businesses, including Cilardi's Restaurant in Half Day, the Grayslake Chamber of Commerce, the Northside Community Bank in Gurnee, and several Burger Kings in Lake County.

In February, the store celebrated its 10th anniversary. Now Bertler is making plans for the next decade. She is looking into the possibility of manufacturing draperies to offer customers a quicker turn-around and is considering moving her business into a house to showcase her products in a comfortable home environment.

She loves her job.

"I enjoy meeting new people and being able to create a warm customized environment for them to live-in," Bertler said.

CLC Foundation Board Member Legat mourned

"She was a person who made things happen," said Dr. Gretchen Naff, president of the College of Lake County.

Naff was among many hundreds of Lake County residents who attended funeral services for Joan Arlene Legat, 62, of Waukegan, Feb. 27.

Legat had served as a board member of the College of Lake County Foundation since 1988.

"Joan was an extraordinary person who gave a lot of herself to make a better world for others," Naff said. "She was a woman of character who served as a role model for all of us."

Legat passed away Monday, Feb. 22 at St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester, MN. She was born Dec. 7, 1936 in Elgin, Ill. and resided in Waukegan most of her life.

She was the executive secretary at Legat Architects, owned by her husband, Joe Legat.

In addition to serving on the College of Lake County Foundation Board, Joan was an active member of the First United Methodist Church of Waukegan, President of Senior Services Waukegan Emblem Club, member of the Women's Golf Association of Glen Flora Country Club, Foundation Board Member of SEDOL, member of the Friends of Victory Board and a member of the Little Fort Chapter of the DAR.

Bill Devore, executive director of the CLC Foundation, served with Joan on the Foundation Board and first met her in 1963.

"My father was the pastor at the church where she and her husband attended," Devore recalled. Devore was asked by Joe Legat to give remarks about his wife at Saturday's funeral.

"I think she was one who burned a path for others to follow," Devore said. "She didn't take no very often."

Devore worked closely with Joan when he was special events coordinator for the Victory Hospital Foundation.

"She was a woman whose energy and enthusiasm were contagious," he said. "She had such love for people she had never met. She impacted the lives of many students through her fundraising for scholarships."

Joan was chairman of the annual CLC Foundation Golf Outing as well as many other special events.

She had battled cancer off and on for 20 years.

In addition to her husband she is survived by a son, Joseph M. Legat of Pahrump, NV and a daughter, Lori Cline of Greensboro, NC and her mother, Marian Marsh Hudson.

Hollister Incorporated supports La Leche League international building fund

The final installment of a $100,000 contribution was presented to La Leche League International (LLLI) to support the organization's efforts to purchase a new worldwide headquarters building.

The $20,000 check, presented by Al Herbert, President and Chief Operating Officer (COO) of Hollister Incorporated, honored a five-year commitment to LLLI originally made by Ameda AG, a Swiss manufacturer of breastfeeding products. Ameda AG is now a wholly owned subsidiary of Hollister Incorporated.

For more than 75 years, Hollister has provided hospitals with obstetric products including birth certicates, cord clamps, amniotic membrane perforators, footprinters, and more. With the acquisition of Ameda AG, a firm that pioneered the development of breast pumps more than 50 years ago, Hollister broadens its product line to include a variety of breastfeeding pumps, kits, and accessories.

LLLI was established in 1958 to provide personal encouragement, assistance, and educational materials to mothers who breastfeed their babies. Today LLLI has 30,000 members and 8,000 leaders globally who provide support to lactating mothers in 66 countries. To reach LLLI, call 1-800-LaLeche.

Rascoe to lead Congregation Am Ecod

Congregation Am Echod, Waukegan and Lindenhurst, has engaged Michael L. Rascoe as its new rabbi succeeding Rabbi William Fertig who has emeritus status with the 103-year old Lake County synagogue.

Rabbi Rascoe has spent most of his career in Grand Rapids and more recently in the New York and Philadelphia areas. He said returning to the Midwest was one of his many goals in moving to Am Echod.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Jerry Reizner, temple president, who also is a Lindenhurst resident.

Rabbi Rascoe said "My goal as rabbi is to make Judaism a more vibrant part of everybody's life. I like making many thousand year old religion relevant and to take the academics into real life situations."

He said that Judaism has been around a lot longer than our present culture and has a lot to contribute to make the world a better place. the rabbi said he has many ideas about how to define and explain Judaism and translate it to real life situations.

Reizner said the Rabbi Search Committee was impressed by Rabbi Rascoe's background. This includes his work with congregations in teaching and in developing programs within his congregations such as innovative ones in support groups. He also has extensive experience in working with the community at large where he has organized multi religion events.

His education includes study at Columbia University and the Jewish Theological Seminary.

Lake County Food Drive helps fill pantry shelves

The Lake County food Resource Council and many volunteers throughout Lake County are busy with the last minute preparations for the 12th annual Lake County Food Drive. The drive is scheduled for March 6 to 13. The Council is a not-for-profit group established to assist food pantries and soup kitchens in the county by helping provide food, expertise and networking among the volunteers and staff of the county's agencies helping the hungry. All food collected during Food Drive will be distributed in Lake County.

Co-sponsors for the Food Drive include the Northeast Council Boy Scouts of America and the Lake County Life Underwriters. Boy Scout troop members will distribute plastic bags to the households of the county, asking residents to fill the bags with NON-PERISHABLE food items and leave them at their doors for pickup by the Scouts on Saturday morning, March 13. The members of Lake County Life Underwriters will collect from the schools and churches foodstuffs contributed there. Edward Gonwa, Regional Superintendent of Schools, has encouraged all schools in the county to participate in the Food Drive. Members of the Board of the Food Resource Council have contacted churches throughout the county.

Volunteers will sort the collected foods on Saturday, March 13, at Northpointe Achievement Center in Zion (donated for this occasion.) Food will then be distributed to qualifying pantries and soup kitchens immediately. Any persons wishing to assist in the Drive are encouraged to call Margaret Bragado at 623-7885, Vicki Hammer at 948-8747, or Ann Conroy at 360-6818 for further information.

All monetary donations should be made payable to Lake County Food Resource Council and mailed to Post Office Box 685, Grayslake, IL 60030.

In-person absentee voting begins at County Clerk's office

"In-person absentee voting for the Consolidated Election to be held April 13, begins Thursday, March 4, in the County Clerk's office, Room 101, 18 N. County St., Waukegan," announced Lake County Clerk Willard Helander. Voting will be offered during regular office hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Friday. In-person absentee voting will also be offered on Saturday, April 10, from 9 a.m. to noon. The last day to vote in-person absentee is Monday, April 12.

In Illinois, absentee voting is restricted to the following: absent from Lake County on election day; physically incapacitated; student temporarily residing outside Lake County; observance of a religious holiday; incarceration pending trial date; serving jury duty; employed in the Office of the Lake County Clerk/State's Attorney/or serving as an election judge and election day duties will prevent being present at the polling place.

A registered voter may also vote an absentee ballot by mail beginning March 4. The voter should request an Application for Absentee Ballot by calling the Lake County Clerk's office at 360-5912. Once the signed application is returned, our office will mail the voter their ballot within 48 hours.

"Our office also offers a number of absentee programs which accommodate voters who are temporarily or permanently unable to be at the polls on election day. These include the Disabled Voter Program, the Temporarily Absent Student Program and the Snowbird Program. We encourage voters who wish to learn more about these programs to contact our Absentee Voting Department at 360-5912," Helander said.

U.S. Census Bureau to hire block canvassers in Illinois

The race to the next decennial census is on, and the Census Bureau is combing the state in hopes of recruiting thousands of workers called "Block Canvassers" to help check address lists for Census 2000. The list will be used later when Census Questionnaires are delivered to everyone in the nation.

At first glance, Block Canvassers are temporary workers who travel each block in their community to verify and update the Census Bureau's list of addresses in city style areas—But Block Canvassers are really much more than that.

Block Canvassers are local people who help make the community a better place to live—just by verifying addresses. They touch the lives of people who have children in head-start or daycare. They help make it possible for friends and family to have access to the healthcare benefits they need. They help the elderly to benefit from programs they so richly deserve.

How? Block Canvassers help lay the groundwork to make an accurate census possible. In turn, the census population count is used to determine how much money communities will get for services like child assistance, education, roads, housing healthcare, and elderly care. The census is also the basis for apportioning seats in the U.S. House of Representatives. By working in the census, Block Canvassers help their neighbors to have a voice in our nation's government.

The Census Bureau needs to recruit thousands of people in Illinois within the next several weeks—a massive undertaking. Retirees, participants in government programs, those looking for temporary jobs, and everyone who is interested in the well-being of their community are encouraged to apply.

Full and part-time jobs are available with flexible days and weekend hours. Work may start as soon as late February, and will last up to eight weeks. Local people will be hired to work within their own neighborhoods because they are most familiar with the residents in their community. Workers will be paid weekly at a competitive wage, including mileage reimbursement. Training is provided, and job applicants must take a basic written test which is being offered at various sites throughout the state.

For more information about becoming a census worker, and to be scheduled for the next testing session in your area, contact the Census Bureau office toll free at 1 (888) 325-7733.

'HEROES': YMCA looks for funding help

sented a program of his slides that illustrated how YMCA employees care for and instruct in summer programs.

Kaplan attributes the magic of the camping experience to five characteristics. The first is that it involves total involvement. People are away from the stress of the everyday world and its responsibilities.

Timeliness is a second factor. "We don't have to be governed by the clock," he said. Learning takes place at its own pace when it can have the best impact.

"Camp is a temporary community," Kaplan said. "You can really focus your attention on meeting the needs of the campers."

Fourth, Kaplan said that camp has a restorative quality. It is an outdoor activity. "It provides a clean slate."

And last, camp is a community controlled by campers. He said that when campers are involved with running the camp, it generates values for the people involved.

The magic of the camp experience is especially important for children who come from distressed environments.

"A camper who comes from that type of situation builds self-esteem and self-confidence," Kaplan said. "They develop social skills. They learn to share, to cooperate."

"For many children, it is their first independent living situation." It is the first time they have three meals a day. For others, it is the first time they have had their own bed. It is also the first time they have a chance to be with children who are different from themselves.

For many children, camp is their first chance to have meaningful choices.

Kaplan said that, for him, the heroes are the staff members of the YMCA camps. "That is what does make a difference for children," he said.

Financial contributions given to fund raisers in the "Kids Need Heroes" campaign can have very specific impacts for parents with children. For example, a week of before and after school care for a student is possible for $80. A child can be taught to swim and be comfortable in water for $100. A child can enjoy two weeks of summer day camp for $265. Those who provide a $588 contribution, make it possible for an entire family to have a one-year YMCA membership. A family of four can experience camp together if someone makes a $250 contribution.

Hastings Lake YMCA is a single camp. However, it is sometimes easier to see it as three different camp areas surrounding a beautiful lake.

Funds will be collected from now to Tuesday, April 6. Volunteers will be calling on people to discuss the Hastings Lake YMCA and asking for community support.

"I hope you're real successful," Kaplan told the kick-off dinner participants. "What you're doing is very, very important."

BALANCE: Forest preserve looks for $55 M

got involved in the referendum campaign because she frequently takes her children to Ryerson Woods Forest Preserve in Deerfield and visits many of other forest preserves in Lake County. She said she has found the quality of the forest preserves and the programs they offer to be excellent — and recent surveys indicate that the public shares those views.

The forest preserves also provide one of the last refuges for endangered species in Lake County, according to Calabrese.

"Lake County has more endangered species than any county in the state so if we're not protecting them, it affects the whole state. It's that crucial," she said.

Although $55 million may sound like a lot of money, the net effect on the average property owner in Lake County would be minimal, according to Calabrese. The estimated tax increase for the owner of a $200,000 home would be less than $20 a year if the referendum passes, she said.

"We've learned over the last 40 years the price of land is only increasing so we need to buy land at a reasonable cost," she said.

TAYLOR: Good service makes the difference

thought starters, but you can probably add many to these.

Assessment questions: In what areas can we document that our service improved? What skills did we acquire this year in our company that allowed us to serve our customers more effectively? Who has responsibility for improving service this year? Does our use of technology support improved customer service? Do our service policies provide genuine value to our customers? Are we out serving our competitors?

You can improve your service quality. Try the H.A.P.P.Y. system.

It may just make a few customers smile.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

In a recent survey and through many letters I've received regarding gift giving by employers and employees, I have heard all sides...those who were quite pleased with the generosity of their employer and those labeling them Scrooge. On the other side of the coin were the letters and calls received from employers who were quite taken by the generosity of their employees. One letter came in from a gentleman we will call George, an employee of a large corporation of over 1500 employees that has employed him for 14 years. He was disgruntled over the fact that... "after 14 years of service, my Christmas bonus amounted to a $25.00 gift certificate to a national retailer." George...there are 1500 plus employees in the corporation...now taking into account 1500 employees and let us hypothetically say everyone of those employees received the same gift certificate...Your employer has then given out $37,500.00... "stop complaining", I told him, as I began to tell him the story of the employer who had a tough year, competing with the bigger competition. He had a staff of 25 full timers and 3 part timers who he swore were the "cream of the crop". They had been promised pay increases starting after the first of the year. Their loyalty and caring for the company went to an extreme when the employer gave each employee a generous Christmas bonus, and they in turn reciprocated by handing him a gift and inside was a letter signed by all the employees, offering to stay at their same wages until business picked up in the spring. Loss for words, huh?

My all time favorite is the employer who threw a Christmas dinner celebration for the staff who were escorted to a posh Chicago restaurant by a stocked limousine, use of the limousines after dinner to do as they pleased before being returned to their original starting point. A former employee and spouse who had left the company 2 months prior were asked to join the staff for the holiday celebration and were escorted by limousine as well. Dinner was superb, the company delightful and then it was time for the employer's yearly speech which ended with an envelope to each employee, and a basket of delicacies for the former employee. The former employee, on the return trip voiced her opinions of how she cannot believe she did not get a Christmas bonus, while the others sat in amazement and amusement, while she continued to embarrass herself. The employer caught wind of what went on and could not believe that his generous offer to invite a former employee would result in this employee believing that actually warranted a Christmas bonus. Wasn't the evening and gift enough? You don't work there anymore! You should be thankful they invited you at all! To you I say, GROW UP!

Come on...the holidays are a time for caring and sharing. There are some who unfortunately forget the true meaning...those who have come to expect gifts, who are bitter over something given to them, that they feel they should have more. Why...? Then I say to the man with the staff who gave something back to him in a Christmas card...you are blessed.

Assisi Animal Foundation-Pet of the Month

BEAR is one of the most handsome fellows we've run across. He's a pure white Shepherd with a wonderful loving and gentle disposition. Bear is only 16 months old, and therefore bounding with energy! He's very bright, but will need and deserves training, which because of his high intelligence should produce fine results. He is very social and accepts other dogs and youngsters well. He'll be a definite plus to some lucky family.

The ASSISI ANIMAL FOUNDATION, McHenry County's first no-kill shelter has fine, loving pets for permanent, loving homes. We urgently need volunteers and welcome your help working with the animals or offering a skill to help in a new building for the animals. If you love animals and can give them just two hours any morning on a weekly basis, we'll welcome you to our work for the animals. Please call (815) 455-9411 for information on adoption, volunteering or our programs.

Homemade warmth

Quilt passions: shows and raffles aid Lake County organizations

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Handmade quilts continue to capture the imagination, fill the heart, and bring warmth wherever they are placed.

For people who love them and the artistic expression they capture, the next few months will present opportunities to admire and acquire a family treasure.

County residents who admire quilts will find everything they want at the "Lake County Impressions V" Quilt Show sponsored by the Northern Lake County Quilters Guild on Sunday, May 2 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the College of Lake County Physical Education Center.

County residents who want to acquire a quilt made in Lake County, will have four opportunities to win a hand-crafted quilt in raffles that also will raise money for county organizations.

The Northern Lake County Quilters Guild is sponsoring a quilt raffle in association with their College of Lake County show.

Customers and artisans at Quilter's Dream Inc., 902 Main Street, in downtown Antioch are creating an Independence Sampler Quilt that will be raffled at Williams Park in Antioch on July 3.

People who attend summer events at the Central Baptist Children's Home in Lake Villa will have, once again, an opportunity to purchase raffle tickets for a quilt made and donated by all the employees at State Bank of The Lakes.

The Antioch Woman's Club is making a quilt that will be raffled at their Saturday, Oct. 30 Masquerade Ball at Maravella's in Fox Lake.

The Northern Lake County Quilter's Guild has their quilt closest to completion. "We're just now finishing it up," said Karen Powell of the guild. "The center of it is called Medallion. The outer edge is sampler blocks."

It is a combination of two traditional quilt-top patterns.

Raffle tickets for this quilt are sold at Quilter's Dream in downtown Antioch. Members of the guild also have tickets. Tickets will be on sale at the May 2 show.

"This is our fifth show since our club's inception," said Powell. The show is an opportunity for the public to view traditional and contemporary quilts. There also will be many other activities associated with the show.

There is a silent auction, wall hangings are displayed, door prizes will be given. Make it - Take it sessions are available for instruction, and there is a merchants mall for vendors. People can make contacts with vendors from throughout the bi-state, multi-county region at this one show.

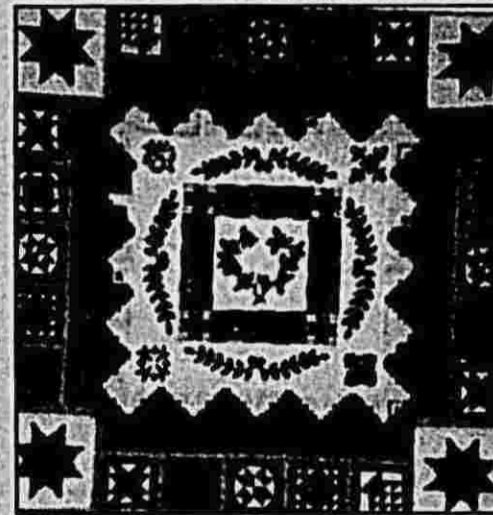

Robin Kessell, co-owner of the Quilter's Dream, works on the Antioch Woman's Club quilt which will be raffled in October to raise money to build sledding hills and an ice skating rink at Antioch's William E. Brook Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center. —

One exhibition that will not be on display at this year's show is a stunning collection of miniature quilts. "Miniature Quilt Magazine holds a yearly contest. They call it 'Miniatures from the Heart,'" Powell said. The top three quilts from several categories are sent on national tour. The guild was able to see the show at their own meeting in early January.

Miniature quilts display sewing skills that may be missed on a larger canvas. The intricate sewing can provoke a sense of disbelief among those who closely inspect the quilts.

The College of Lake County show offers the public an opportunity to view very special quilts sewn by people in Lake County. Admission is $3 and children under 12 may enter free of cost.

The Northern Lake County Quilters Guild will raffle this Medallion Quilt during their fifth annual quilt show, May 2 at the College of Lake County.

A portion of the proceeds from the May 2 show will be donated by the guild to the Central Baptist Children's Home.

The Antioch Independence Day quilt will be raffled on Saturday, July 3 during afternoon festivities at Williams Park, east of the public library. Wendy Maston, co-owner of Quilter's Dream, is working with a group of customers and volunteers

The co-chairs who planned the Mardi Gras Ball were Karen VanderBeke, Sharon Hawkins of Lincolnshire, Sandi Heckman, Mary Connelley of Lake Forest and Donna Hauser of Barrington.

Auxiliary raised $75,000 at Mardi Gras Ball

New Orleans visited Lincolnshire on the night of Feb. 5, when the Riverside Foundation Auxiliary hosted its Mardi Gras Ball at the Marriott Lincolnshire Resort. Glamour, glitz, masks and magic all found their way into this black-tie event. Everyone enjoyed a sumptuous dinner, exciting silent and live auctions, as well as dancing to the tunes of the Bradley Young Orchestra. This year's special auction prize, a six-week old male, yellow Labrador puppy donated by Candlewood Kennel, went for $2,000. Preliminary figures show that approximately $75,000 was raised by the event.

Waiting to inhale: A look at cabin fever

March is, at least as far as I'm concerned, "Cabin Fever Month." But don't look that up on your calendar yet because Hallmark has somehow managed to overlook this whole phenomena. They have not yet realized that this is a perfect opportunity to sell more greeting cards, because at any given moment in the month of March, millions of people stricken with cabin fever would be thrilled to receive a card.

Actually, they'd be just as thrilled to receive a Tupperware party invitation, if only for the chance to win an exciting prize, such as a designer-colored spatula. That is the nature of cabin fever.

Even modern science knows more than Hallmark. In their continuing quest for truth and an excuse for ridiculous funding from the government, research scientists have attempted to turn cabin fever

LIFE'S A BEAR

into a "disease," just as they've done with other problems like overeating and the unhealthy desire to have real butter on your toast. They prefer to call it "sunlight-deprivation," a depression brought on by insufficient sunlight.

I don't think that this is going to become an accepted diagnosis, however. It just doesn't seem possible that insurance companies will start covering trips to the Bahamas every winter in order to cure this "disease." Trust me - I've already called them.

Hollywood has also had its fascination with the cabin fever phenomena, though they took it to the extreme, as they usually do. I'm sure many of you saw the movie, "The Shining," several years ago, the one where Jack Nicholson runs around breaking down doors with an ax, announcing "He-e-e-ere's Johnny!" Apparently the makers of this film wanted us to swallow the story that Jack, supposedly insane from cabin fever (not to mention having a really bad hair day), actually wants to kill his entire family after being stuck in an empty hotel with them for several months! Can you imagine that?

Come to think of it, I can. I hate to admit this, but by mid-March, I've been known to begin uttering threats to my own children, such as "If you don't stop whining, I am going to kill Barney. Yes, I know he's a magic dinosaur, but I'm a mother and I have powers of my own. It's up to you - whining or Barney. You choose." Believe me, as I stand there with the remote control in my hand, they know I'm not kidding.

I even begin to have strange fantasies, where I see myself on a deserted island in the Caribbean, laying in the sun while talking on my cellular phone to the kids: "No, honey, Mommy didn't run away. I'll be back as soon as it's spring. I promise. Gotta go now, sweetie - Raul the cabana boy is here with my drink."

I assume that this cabin fever thing is limited to those of us who have an intimate relationship with snow each winter. Although, when you think about it, it's not actually the snow that causes these feelings of boredom, frustration, and short-tempereness. It is the fact that every time you turn your head, a child is standing there, pouting and uttering those immortal words "I don't have nothin' to do." Which is not only irritating, it is grammatically incorrect!

I, however, clever person that I am (or is that "desperate"?), have managed to find a way to temporarily relieve my cabin fever symptoms by simulating a trip to a sunny climate. I place my outdoor lounge chair directly under the skylight in the ceiling of my bedroom. Dressed in my bathing suit and sunglasses, I lay there and imagine myself on a beach somewhere.

There's only one drawback - my husband does not appreciate being called "Raul."

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002.

SPECIAL EVENTS

A bit of Ireland comes to Long Grove

Visitors to Long Grove can celebrate and find all things Irish for St. Patrick's Day at many of the nearly 100 specialty shops and restaurants in the historic village.

Leading the celebration will be Paddy's on the Square (634-0339) and the Irish Boutique (634-3540). The Irish Boutique, located by the covered bridge, carries Irish Dresden, Belleek China, Waterford Crystal, Claddagh rings in gold and silver, handmade linens, handmade Nicholas Mosse pottery, and traditional Irish foods. At Paddy's in Apple Haus Square, visitors will find handknit sweaters, woolens, capes, novelty clothing and accessories, and family tracing computer programs. The shop boasts the largest collection of traditional and popular Irish music in the Midwest. To get into the spirit of St. Patrick's Day, Paddy's will host two weekends of entertainment. The schedule is as follows: The music of Donnybrook on March 6, Jeff Ward, guitarist on March 7, Kevin Henry plays the Uilleann pipe and tin whistle on March 13, and the McNulty Irish Step Dancers perform on March 14. All performances take place from 1-3 p.m.

The Pine Cone Christmas Shop (634-0890) will feature the Top O' the Mornin' Possible Dreams Santa sporting a green morning coat with a gold shamrock on the lapel. The Celtic Sounds Musical Santa, holding a shillelagh, wears a green vest and plays, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling."

The Village Tavern (634-3117) will be wearing the green from 11:30 a.m. to midnight on March 17, serving corned beef and cabbage, green beer, and St. Patrick's Day Sundaes. Evening entertainment features pianist Roger Pauley from 6-10 p.m.

'8MM' falls a few millimeters short

Let me start by saying that eight millimeter should be abbreviated 8 mm. The brains behind the film "8MM" must have felt capital "M's" sandwiched against the number looked better on a movie poster.

Grammar note aside, the concept behind "8MM" is intriguing. A detective trying to solve a murder with the only evidence being a short 8 mm film.

It is a concept which opens the door for many different scenarios, because there could be numerous plot-lines behind the mysterious film.

The scenario "8MM" chooses to follow is sleazy, dark, twisted and gruesome.

Tom Welles (Nicolas Cage) is a private detective who is known for his surveillance skills, his knack for working alone, and his ability to keep a secret.

He is hired by the widow of a wealthy man. In the deceased man's safe was an 8 mm film which depicts the brutal death of a young woman.

The widow wants Welles to find out if the film is real, and if so, who the girl was and why the film was in her husband's safe.

Welles' investigation leads him to the dark underworld of black-market pornography.

The more he digs, the more dirt surrounds him, until he becomes enveloped in the grime which he is trying to shed some light upon.

"8MM," like the small film Welles investigates pulls the viewer into that same dark hole.

You want to keep digging and find an answer, but in the end you just want to wash off the filth.

Written by Andrew Kevin Walker, the same mind that created "Seven," another darkly engrossing film, "8MM" pulls the viewer in with the same kind of intensity, but not the same kind of intelligence.

movie review

John Kmita

8 MM

Rated R extreme violence

Director

Joel Schumacher

Starring

Nicolas Cage
Joaquin Phoenix
James Gandalfini
Peter Stormare
Anthony Heald
Chris Bauer
Catherine Keener

The portions of "8MM" where Welles is beginning to dig into the investigation are intriguing because there are so many unknowns. It is fun to watch how he makes the plot become known.

But for all the elements which make Welles look like super-sleuth, there are elements of the investigation which make you want to scream at him for not checking.

Rather than go over every frame of the 8 mm film with a fine-toothed comb prior to beginning his footwork, Welles picks up on small clues when he watches the film at later stages of the investigation.

Cage's portrayal of Welles is done well enough that you can see his transition from the calm, cool detective to a man who is consumed by this 8 mm film. Still, he has a tendency to over-act which make the character a little less credible.

Joaquin Phoenix also does well as Max, Welles' guide through the porn underground.

But it is there in the sick, twisted bowels of the city that the film begins to lose the viewer and slip into formulaic psycho slasher film mode.

It is also the point that begs you to ask yourself if you really want to follow in Welles' footsteps and see a resolve to this gruesome film.

For not taking advantage of the endless Hitchcock-style plot points this film could have used, I give "8MM" two-and-a-half out of five popcorn buckets.

Tom Welles (Nicolas Cage) discovers a world beyond his worst nightmares when he investigates the contents of a small reel of eight millimeter film.

Telephone:
(847) 223-9400

Hours:
Open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.
The bar is open until 1 a.m. daily.

Menu:
Fine casual dining-a wide cuisine variety featuring lunch Buffet.

Celebrate the luck o' the Irish at Oliver's

Whether it's lunch, dinner or you're just looking for a place to unwind, Oliver's in Grayslake offers an up-beat, casual atmosphere for your dining pleasure.

Located at 305 S. Rte. 83 in Grayslake, Oliver's has been serving up outstanding food at reasonable prices for the past eight years.

Open seven days a week, the friendly and professional staff invite diners to experience food service, which truly separates Oliver's from the ordinary. Whether it's a night out for the whole family or an intimate dinner for two, Oliver's is the perfect choice.

Oliver's is the place to be to celebrate the luck o' the Irish on St. Paddy's day when the cook will feature a Corn Beef and cabbage buffet sure to put you in favor with the leprechauns.

Plan now to celebrate Easter Sunday at Oliver's special Sunday buffet. Reservations are now being accepted for April 4.

Oliver's makes every Sunday special with the wide variety of breakfast delights featured on the breakfast buffet including juice, coffee or other beverages. It is served from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and is truly a treat for the whole family.

Oliver's is not just for special occasions, however. Oliver's luncheon buffet is a terrific option for the hearty or light appetite. The buffet serves up such hot entrees as meat loaf, BBQ ribs, fresh fish, potatoes and vegetables. The full-service salad bar is complete with all your favorite cold-salads such as pasta, potato, coleslaw and many others. The lunch buffet is served Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The buffet is not your only lunch choice, Oliver's offers a full menu of selections ranging from sandwiches to full dinners.

Looking for a place to unwind after work or meet friends? Oliver's lounge offers a full-bar, including micro-brews on tap, and a large selection of appetizers. Play darts, watch the big game or just unwind in the comfortable bar accented with natural lighting.

Wednesday and Friday, visit Oliver's for the all you can eat fish fry, a great dinner option for the family.

If seafood is your favorite, then the Alaskan Snow Crab Legs are a don't miss menu feature Saturday evening along with prime rib, both queen and king cuts, which are a real crowd-pleaser.

Oliver's also has a meeting room for your special gathering. Plan your next office get-together or club meeting here. Oliver's is a full-service restaurant and lounge, open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. The bar is open until 1 a.m. daily. For more information call 223-9400.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

You have to control your temper when it comes to a difference of opinion with a co-worker early in the week, Aries. Just because he or she disagrees with you does not mean that your ideas don't matter. Explain your position, and others will support you. A close friend needs some financial assistance. Do what you can.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Don't keep your feelings bottled up, Taurus. If something is bothering you, let people know about it. They will respect your opinion, and you will start to feel a lot better. A loved one turns to you in a time of need. Even though you may not want to get involved, be there for him or her.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Things are looking up this week, Gemini. You make great progress professionally, and your personal life takes a turn for the better. You meet an interesting person late in the week. Don't be shy — he or she is attracted to you too. Sagittarius plays an important role on Thursday.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Stay focused this week. You have a lot to do, but those around you want to involve you in their problems. Don't let them. Some important people are counting on you to work diligently. The person whom you've been seeing wants to spend more time with you. Think about what you really want before saying yes.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Don't stay angry at a close friend who gets you into trouble this week, Leo. This person doesn't mean any harm; he or she just wants to help you. A loved one asks for your advice about a personal problem. Be honest with him or her — even if what you say won't be appreciated.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Don't be too upset with yourself when you make a mistake early in the week. Your actions don't create any major problems, and things are back to normal within a matter of hours. Others understand the situation; you should too. You run into an old friend on Thursday.

Spend some time with him or her.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Your positive attitude saves the day late in the week, Libra, when friends get into a disagreement. You help them to see each other's point of view and keep everyone talking. You should be proud of yourself. Another Libra plays a key role on Wednesday.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

You are on top of the world when you receive an unexpected windfall this week. Enjoy yourself — you deserve it. However, save something for the future. You're going to need it down the road. A close friend reveals his or her true feelings for you. Don't let this damage your relationship.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Your courage sets you apart from the rest early in the week, Sagittarius. You stand up to a difficult acquaintance and make life a little easier for several people, including yourself. Your efforts definitely will be appreciated. A friend offers you some romantic advice. Listen to what he or she is saying.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't be stubborn when it comes to a financial situation. What you want isn't always easy to get. Look at all of your options, and make a realistic choice. Turn to loved ones for advice if you need it. They will look out for your best interest. Capricorn plays an important role.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't be too critical of an acquaintance who offers you assistance. He or she is just trying to be helpful — there are no ulterior motives. A loved one introduces you to an interesting person. It will be worth the effort to get to know him or her better. Cancer plays a key role.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Try to keep your sense of humor about you this week, Pisces. If you don't, you're going to have a difficult time. Don't take things to heart. Just work to resolve problems, and keep smiling. A loved one turns to you for comfort. Be there for him or her.

Planning a rose garden

I have always loved the rose, nothing else has such an intoxicating fragrance as this lovely flower. Roses have long been one of the most adored flowers since they have discovered. Many people though have been afraid to grow them, because they have heard they take a lot of time and trouble to grow well.

You do not have to follow 100 rules to grow a great looking and smelling rose. You can have nice, gorgeous flowers for a little effort. Rose gardening is not difficult, but you need to become familiar with the many types of roses available today. Over centuries, species have been selected, crossed, and re-crossed to form numerous classes or types of roses. Following I'll give you a rundown on the various roses available.

David Austin roses are a mix of the blossom shapes and scents of old roses with the disease resistance and everblooming qualities of newer strains and they are a wonderful new rose.

Gertrude Jekyll is a strongly fragrant shell pink blossom on a plant that can be pruned into a bush or trained as a climber.

Graham Thomas is a romantic, apricot-pink rose with a hardy tea fragrance, while mature blooms are a striking, glistening yellow. Plants become quite bushy and grow from four to eight feet tall.

The Prince has flowers of a rich crimson, maturing to an equally rich purple. No rose of this particular coloring has been producing in the last 150 years. They have an intoxicating old-rose fragrance. Compact, three to four foot by two to three foot shrubs.

Noted for their performance, continuity of bloom and ease of culture, Floribundas or Cluster roses, are especially well adapted to mass plantings. No shrub can match them for floral display, both in amount of bloom at a given time, and for their lengthy blooming period.

Sturdy and bushy in growth habit, they flower continuously in opulent clusters, growing four to five feet high.

White Queen Elizabeth is a floribunda with white sometimes flushed with pink, four inch flowers on strong, vigorous upright plants that can reach eight feet tall. Flowers are pleasingly fragrant.

Armada is an outstanding rose. It blooms profusely all summer, producing large clusters of rich rose pink, semi-double flowers that hold their color well in hot, humid conditions. The bush is upright and sturdy six feet high by four feet wide.

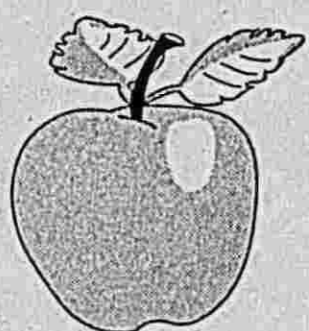

Hybrid Teas are the flowers most of us think of when the rose is mentioned. Hybrid Teas produce large flowers, usually one on a long stem. Grandifloras produce the same large flowers, but often in clusters. In truth, both groups are interchangeable, and both are ideal for cutting.

The McCartney Rose is possibly the most fragrant Hybrid Tea in existence. It has passion pink buds that are double and perfectly formed. Mr. Lincoln is considered the best red rose ever. Rich maroon buds open their velvet petals to form perfect, high-centered fully double flowers of lively red that will not fade. Wonderfully fragrant. Dessert Peace is a version of the long time favorite Hybrid Tea Peace. It has many blooms that open to a peachy cream color and have vibrant shades of yellow and orange. It's spicy fragrance can't be matched.

There are shrub roses or landscape roses which are a rose that doesn't fit precisely in one of the preceding classes. These roses are some of the most carefree and profusely blooming of all roses. They are extremely disease resistant and flower throughout the season.

Until next time, peace.

Dentist makes kids eager to brush their teeth

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

A teddy bear with huge teeth plays an important role at Kids Dentist in Grayslake. Several times a week, groups of 15 to 25 children watch a dentist or hygienist brush the cuddly bear's teeth as part of a presentation on dental care, prevention and nutrition.

"We teach children in a non-threatening way about nutrition and what's good and bad for their teeth," said Stacey Polinski of Kids Dentist. "They learn what a trip to the dentist is like."

Each year, Kids Dentist invites pre-school, kindergarten and first grade students from local schools to participate in free half-hour presentations. The sessions begin in February, which is National Children's Dental Health Month, and continue through April. This year, more than 2,500 children are expected to visit.

In addition to the demonstration with the bear, the children are shown instruments that a dentist uses for cleaning and shining teeth. At the end of the session, they are given toothbrushes and plaque-disclosing tablets to take home. The tablets help them locate areas in their mouths that need better brushing.

Sonia Gutierrez, D.D.S., M.S., came up with the idea to invite children to her office and educate them about their dental health four years ago. She maintains that building a good attitude in young people makes for healthier, happier adults.

"There is no reason to have bad teeth anymore," she said. "There are many ways to prevent cavities. Proper brushing, sealants and good dietary habits can prevent future problems."

Polinski said the response has been quite positive.

"We've received many letters from parents," she said. "One parent wrote, 'My son actually wants to brush his teeth now.'"

Recently children from B.J. Hooper School in Lindenhurst and 4-Kids in Grayslake visited the office.

"The kids are thrilled when they're here," Polinski said.

Fox Lake American Legion raising funds to aid children with cancer

Fox Lake American Legion Post 703 will sponsor a fundraising pancake breakfast to assist area children suffering from Neuroblastoma, a rare and terminal form of cancer.

The breakfast will be held March 27 from 8 to 11 a.m. at the American Legion Post 703, Rte. 12, Fox Lake.

The cost of the breakfast is $4.50 for adults and $3 for children 6-12 years of age. Children under 6 are free.

All proceeds will be divided between the families of Cody Sturges and Nicole Wallace. Both children are suffering from neuroblastoma.

Individuals wishing to make a contribution to the fund can mail donations to:

Cody Sturges Fund, c/o Algonquin State Bank, 2400 Huntington Drive, Algonquin, Ill. 60102.

Medical school offers free seminars

In an effort to promote community wellness to the residents of Lake County, the Robert R. McCormick University Clinics, located on the campus of Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School, will begin offering a series of free educational seminars this spring. The seminars will include the latest information on medical and health related issues. Kicking off the series on March 28, from 1-3 p.m. will be a presentation on High Blood Pressure, by Dr. David Rudy, chairman of the department of family medicine, followed by a free blood pressure screening.

Serving Lake County since 1982, The Robert R. McCormick University Clinics offer primary patient care, a comprehensive women's health center, and a full range of specialty services. The Clinics are staffed by a team of expert physicians and health-care professionals dedicated to providing affordable, high quality care.

Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School has maintained a position of excellence as a national and community resource for over half a century and welcomes the opportunity to continue serving the Lake County community. The Clinics are located on the University's campus at 3333 Green Bay Rd., North Chicago. For further seminar or clinic information, call (847) 473-4357.

Teddy Bear Clinic eases anxiety for children's doctor visits

On Sat., March 6, from 1 to 4 p.m. in Lake Forest Hospital's Patient Services and Health Education Center, children are invited to bring in their favorite teddy bear or doll for a thorough "check-up." Lake Forest Hospital staff explain what to expect during a physical exam while children, see, feel and use some common exam room equipment or take an imaginary stroll through the operating room.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for children to become familiar and comfortable in a medical setting and to understand the roles of clinicians," said Sharon Hopkins, RN, Lake Forest Hospital Emergency Medical Services 9EMS/Trauma Coordinator. "Lake Forest Hospital is working closely with the community to incorporate other child safety isues into the Teddy Bear Clinic."

Teachers from Dearhaven Child Care and Learning Center will dress up as clinicians and role play with children to explain the procedure when a child visits a doctor.

Representatives from the Lake Forest Police Department and the Lake Forest Fire Department talk about other child safety and fire safety issues, and teach children how and when to dial 911. In addition, a pediatric dentist will be on hand to interact with the kids.

Other discussion topics include nutritional snacks and kitchen safety. Lake Forest Hospital's Teddy Bear Clinic is open to the public and free of charge. For additional information, contact Lake Forest Hospital Community Education at (847) 234-6112.

This mom has a problem with no bull! Free osteoporosis screenings and lecture at CLC March 10

Hi Dr. Singer,

My son and my husband used to be very big into watching the Bulls play. In the past when the Bulls were having great seasons, the two of them were inseparable and always right next to each other on that couch. Now that the Bulls are not having as good a season, my son and husband seem to be drifting apart and don't seem to have much more in common. Is there anything I can suggest to them so that maybe they can have something else this special? H.H.

Dear H.H.,

There is something I can suggest to you for this and that would be that the two of them should do just about anything together! If they had that type of relationship around the Bulls than they can really have that kind of relationship around any other type of sport or hobby. You didn't mention anything about any "bad blood" between them, so I am going to speak to this as though they are just a little bit out of touch with each other.

They obviously love sports, so, even better than sitting in front of the T.V., why not have them get out to the local YMCA or other facility that has sports related activities and play together.

If they love to watch basketball, playing it together might be even better. There are also other sports that can be just as interesting. A lot of the kids I'm meeting these days have been getting into golf. It's a great conversation sport, too. Time to walk and talk or just dive balls and talk!

Other things that can be done are more hobby related. Some dads and sons love to fish together or hike together. This is also great talk time. The options are almost limitless.

If your son and husband have difficulty talking without a topic or activity between them, you might want to research why that is happening. If you don't want to be the one facilitating the discussion, you might talk to your husband and suggest that he do some thinking about maybe how to change it.

The easiest way to do this is just to talk about it and find out. If it turns out to be something serious, get therapy for it. If it turns out to be awkwardness, (as many fathers and sons as well as mothers and daughters can feel) the best single way to get over that is to be together and get to know each other, just like friends would do.

If all else fails and they are unwilling to give up their "T.V. head" status, you might get cable or a dish and make sure you have ESPN so they can find other teams to watch. I personally hope that they get out and do more together rather than watch more together.

Free osteoporosis screenings and lecture at CLC March 10

A free lecture on osteoporosis, and screenings to measure the risk of developing the disease, will be presented on Mar. 10 at the College of Lake County's Grayslake Campus.

Anne Beeson, a registered nurse and nurse coordinator at Highland Park Hospital, will conduct the screenings from 6 to 8 p.m. in Room C003. The lecture titled "The Revolution in Osteoporosis" will be presented by Michael DiMuzio, Ph.D., director of the osteoporosis prevention and research center at Highland Park Hospital and a clinical assistant professor in the department of oral biology at Northwestern University.

Osteoporosis screening is recommended especially for women over age 50 or women going through menopause. Individuals with family history of osteoporosis or bone problems are at highest risk, noted Anne Devney, director of health services at CLC. She also added that anyone, regardless of age, who may be at risk should be screened. Test results will be available immediately after the screening.

Speaker DiMuzio will present the latest data on three new treatment alternatives and the recently FDA-approved medication, raloxifene. He also will explain the advances in diagnostics and prevention measure.

Screenings will be done on a walk-in basis; appointments are not needed. For information, call the CLC health center at 847-543-2064.

Support group for young widows/widowers

A six-week support group is being offered by Hospice of Northwestern Illinois (HNI) in the Barrington area beginning March 2nd. The Young Widow/Widowers Group is designed to meet the unique needs of those who must face loss at this stage of their life cycle. This group will be held on consecutive Tuesday evenings from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. beginning on March 2nd and ending April 6th. Babysitting will be provided for those attending the group.

The HNI is a not-for-profit, community-based organization accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO). HNI's purpose is to support terminally ill patients and their families in all of Boone, DuPage, Kane and McHenry counties as well as in western Lake and Cook Counties. Hospice is dedicated to easing the emotional, physical and spiritual pain that often accompanies terminal illness, ensuring a higher quality of life for both patients and their families.

For additional information or to register, please call Terry Rasmussen or Chris Mezydlo at (847) 381-5599.

Don't return Huskies

About the Huskies that ate the poor little Yorkshire Terrier in Wauconda—believe me the Huskies don't deserve to be alive, let alone given back to the owners. They will be running free again and next time possibly hurting a child. Destroy those dogs, do not give them back. Make the owner buy a Yorkie for the family that lost one.

Round Lake Park

Pick Lakehurst

The powers-to-be are trying to decide on the best of three locations for the new Lake County College. The only logical decision is to locate the new college by purchasing the failing Lakehurst shopping center. Much of the building that now exists can easily be transformed into a marvelous college setting with plenty of land and parking space available. The most attractive element of this location is that the roadwork is already in place.

'Tinky Winky'

In regards to all the fuss about "Tinky Winky," I have two young children that love Tel-tubbies. I don't see anything wrong with "Tinky Winky." I don't consider him gay. If that's the case, is it gay that my two kids come to give me a big hug when they see all these tele-tubbies hug each other? I think it's absolutely ridiculous that people would even think about that. I'd like to hear other people's comments about this.

Kudos Grant Twp.

Welcome volunteers

Regarding Antioch Rescue Squad response time—Such a shame, you don't have any knowledge of the Antioch Rescue Squad. Members of the rescue squad are volunteers. They give of their own time to their community, both day and night. Their families and friends tolerate their schedules, and absences, so that they could provide a service to their community. They go out in all types of weather and at all hours of the night. If the need is there, they are too. Perhaps you didn't know that other rigs were out when that supposed call you heard, came in. Perhaps you should move to Antioch and bless us with your volunteerism. A great volunteer is always welcome.

Thanks, truck-driver

I want to thank the wonderful truck driver that was on Route 173 on Feb. 19 and saw our Bulldog running across the street. The dog somehow got loose from his chain and was running around outside and almost got killed. The man took the time to slow his truck down, grabbed the dog and brought it to our house. God bless you.

Tell the truth

Comment about the president's impeachment. All the articles that are out that are telling us how we should tell our children about the president lying. I think we need to tell our kids the truth, that no one is perfect and that people will do things they shouldn't do, whether it be lying, killing or whatever. Kids should be told the truth.

Good economy

In response to the question "Does the Clinton presidency mean anything now?" It absolutely does, it means that for the next two years our economy is going to be very good. God forbid, if the people make a mistake and don't elect Al Gore as president in the year 2000. He will keep the economy going.

Stop negativity

I have moved to Antioch and my daughter attends Emmons School. She plays with children at their houses in the area and their kids come here. There are people that live in many different economic levels and I feel they get along very well. I love living in this community. There are the lakes, the parks, etc. It's time to stop the negativity.

Vote April 1

I absolutely do not want my taxes siphoned off the park district because they can't live within their means. Where is this new Grayslake foundation when you need them? Aren't they supposed to be seeking donations for this?

Safety first

To the Northern Illinois Conservation Club and to other organizers of ice fishing tournaments. Why do you continue to put adults and children at risk by holding your ice fishing derbys in February, when over the past two years, there has been a trend of milder winters? I am a fellow fisherman also and I choose not to ice fish in this year's derby, because a friend of mine fell through the ice last year at a sanctioned event. Why not consider scheduling these ice events in January, when the ice has been thicker and much safer. These are supposed to be family events and you should have safety first and foremost on your mind. It's nice to ice fish when there are sunny skies and gentle breezes, but a drowning isn't worth it. Next year, guys, let's think about safety first and consider scheduling in January.

Antioch

Need new voices

Can't we get a few new trustees on the Grayslake village board in the April 13 election? We need trustees for educators or those who work with people and have a better perspective on making decisions based on getting along with people and not focusing on how every action must somehow be tied to money. When I hear some trustees speak, I am amazed by the shallowness of their reasoning. Where are these people from? Where do these people go to school? What books do they read? Don't they even have a basic understanding on government's role in society? We need some new voices on the village board.

Vote 2001

As a contractor in Round Lake Beach, I detest the fact that the mayor is soliciting funds for candidates of trustees. I have no desire to fund the mayor's party for any election. The only party that I wish to support is someone that would go against him in the year 2001. Do your job, do it right.

What about sewers?

Whatever happened to the push for sewers? It seems like they have been counting questionnaires for two months. As I understand it, there were about 5,000 questionnaires sent to the people of Antioch Township. They got back about 50 percent. A little over half of those were FOR sewers. That leaves a large percentage of the people that won't buy into the outrageous cost of sewers. About two years ago, it was stated that the majority didn't want sewers. It's time to drop it.

No loose cats

Please keep your cats in your house or put a collar on them. We are going to start trapping any un-collared cats. If you are going to let your cats out of the house, please put a collar on them.

Poor business

Stanton School Board is under the impression that the $12 million referendum is a shoe in at the next election. At a village board meeting, it was stated that the "drawing is not going to be changed and that's that." They had better get back to the drawing board if they want that passed. The bus situation is one of the stumbling blocks and the property north of Shady Lane is another issue that they do not want to discuss. I'm against selling the other school buildings until after all this is done. To spend $12 million dollars to save $60,000 a year is poor business as far as I'm concerned.

Collared cat

I have called the Animal control Dept. and was told that if a cat does not have a collar on, we can trap it and bring it into the animal control office. Round Lake Beach police department has stated that the homeowners can trap wild cats without collars on them and bring them into animal control. So, this spring, anyone who has a cat that is loose outdoors and doesn't have collars on, they will be taken to Animal Control. I'm tired of them hanging around in my yard, pooping all over, getting into my vegetable garden and flower beds. Keep your cat indoors or make sure it has a collar and tag on.

Round Lake Beach

Unite Round Lake

My comment to the four Round Lake villages. I think it is quite obvious that this community would benefit greatly in becoming one united village. They would receive greater fire and police protection, higher federal and Illinois tax compensation, a simpler and more efficient government. The population of this town would not easily be ignored by any Chicago area investors.

Round Lake

Get organized

My comment is about the Daddy/daughter dance held at the Round Lake Park District. Previous dances were very enjoyable and well organized. Everyone had a great time. This last one, was very disappointing. In the past there was an extra charge for a photographer. I believe most people ordered it, regardless. It was a nice memento. Let's get back to the way it was last year, more focused on the children, more organized and more fun. If it is needed to raise the prices, so be it.

Chamber charity

Does the Grayslake Chamber commerce need charity? Do you know the village board decided to tax us $35,000 per year for three years to expand the welcome program, maintain the business data base, expand the customer attraction program and coordinate special events? What gives? Can't the chamber afford to bankroll its own profit making plans in this upscale community of Grayslake? They have the dough, but they would rather use yours. Are you going to let them? They should build their own building, not house the village hall. This is why we have to get some openly brazen businessmen off the board so they won't be spending our taxes for their gains. Surely our founding fathers would not agree to tax the citizens for businesses.

QUILTS: Create warmth for area charities to create it.

"We're going to do a sampler quilt," she said. Customers will use a common fabric to make a star block of their choice. "There are lots of different star blocks."

The final blocks then will be displayed. "Customers will vote on their favorite top five." The top 15 squares will then be made into a red, white, and blue quilt, of which the blue color will be dominant.

"This will be the fifth (Independence Day) quilt," Maston said. "We'll have it in the shop for awhile and then we'll finish it up on July 3 at the festivities."

Raffle tickets are available at the store. One ticket is $1 and 6 are $5. "The bulk of the tickets are sold (Independence) day."

"We divide the profits between the historical society and the Independence Day Committee," Maston said.

The back of the quilt will have a label with the names of all the people who worked on it. Usually there are about 18 to 20 people who will put stitches in it.

State Bank of The Lakes employees create a quilt that is donated to the Central Baptist Children's Home in Lake Villa and which they raffle off. "We started last September," said Jan Wilke. She coordinates the all-bank effort to create the quilt.

"We did our vote. We're doing a Christmas Quilt," she said. "It's going to be an outstandingly good quilt this year."

"It's a very elegant looking quilt."

"It will be blocks set in a lattice," she said. It is based on three blocks that are set in a random fashion. They are red, green, and ivory. She said that the quilt will have a Victorian feel to it. The quilt comes with adoption papers that explain its history and how it was made.

"It comes with credentials," she said. Helen Anderson sews a special cross-stitch label for it.

"We sell the raffle tickets at each of our facilities." State Bank of The Lakes has offices located in Grayslake, Lindenhurst, and Gurnee. "We will have a new facility in Spring Grove (late this year)."

Once the quilt is ready, it will be placed on display in each branch of the bank in order to encourage sale of tickets.

The Antioch Woman's Club has started work on a quilt to raise money for a community improvement project. The club is raising money to create a sledding hill and skating facility for families and children at the William E. Brook Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center in downtown Antioch.

Working closely with the club on the design is Robin Kessell, co-owner of Quilter's Dream. "It's still in pieces," she said. "I've been designing as I go along."

The background of the quilt is green with some tan. "I'm trying to stay with country colors," Kessell said. Predominant colors include blue, green, white, and gray. She is using an appliqué technique for the blocks of fabric, although other techniques are used. Blocks will be held together with a lattice of cloth.

"The scenes are fairly realistic," woman's club member Sue Allen said.

There is a scene of workmen, birds and animals, flowers, sledding, and some wetland scenes. They are meant to depict the features of the downtown wetland restoration area, according to Allen.

The woman's club quilt will be on display throughout Antioch during the coming months, and people can buy tickets at locations that will be announced. The price of raffle tickets for this very special quilt have not yet been set.

Once the top sheet has been assembled, woman's club members will sew the top cover to the bottom sheet with padding between them.

For people who love quilts and have wanted to own one, the opportunities to see or own a handmade quilt will unfold during the next several months. The Sunday, May 2 "Lake County Impressions V" Quilt Show will be the best place to start indulging a passion for quilting.

'The Chamber will be sponsoring a $1,000 grand raffle prize in Chamber gift certificates at the end'

Merchants button-up downtown

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Downtown merchants will welcome shoppers with incentives, convenient parking behind their stores, new back-of-the-store entrances, and a $1,000 grand raffle prize at the end of sidewalk construction.

Downtown sidewalks may be under construction for several weeks, but merchants remain undaunted. They plan to reward shoppers who use rear parking lots and continue to shop with them.

The parking lots are on Toft Avenue and Skidmore Drive.

"It's your button to success," said Larry Hanson, downtown merchant and member of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry. He is one of a few dozen merchants who decided on the program at a morning chamber meeting Thursday, Feb. 11.

"I think it's a great idea," said President Barbara Porch. She presented the button proposal to members so it could be in place when construction starts in early March.

Downtown Antioch merchants will distribute 10,000 buttons throughout the Antioch area. The two-color button with a picture of a yellow construction hard-hat will have a pin on the back. Shoppers will be encouraged to wear the button during the March through May downtown sidewalk renovation period.

Shoppers who wear the button, or have a shopper card, will receive an incentive gift from merchants when making a purchase. Each participating business will have a different gift.

Incentive gifts may be a piece of candy, a coupon for a discount on a future purchase, an immediate discount, or some other item.

Customers can also show their button or shopper card to enter a raffle drawing in each business. Merchants may have weekly raffle drawings for their customers. Participating stores will have different raffle prizes.

At the end of the sidewalk construction period, all shopper raffle entrants of all stores will be eligible for a grand prize.

"The Chamber will be sponsoring a $1,000 grand raffle prize in Chamber gift certificates at the end," said Porch. "We will do the drawing Saturday night at the Taste of Antioch."

Taste of Antioch/Maxwell Street Days will be Thursday to Sunday, July 22 through 25.

Merchants also will distribute maps to identify locations of new parking lots behind downtown stores as well as how to reach them.

At the February meeting, Antioch Community Development Director Claude LeMere described the upcoming sidewalk improvement program to merchants.

"We'll select a (construction) company on the 25th," LeMere said. The contractor will start construction during the first few weeks of March.

The village will set-up big signs with flashing lights to direct people to parking lots.

LeMere promised merchants that he will be out on the project every day to move it along. "I'm sure after one week with me it will move along faster."

There will be no parking permit-

Deercrest approved

495 homes slated for Rte. 173, Savage Road

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Village of Antioch trustees approved a preliminary development plan for the Deercrest Planned Unit Development, PUD, at their Monday, March 1 village board meeting.

Approval for the PUD was based on agreements between the village and the developer that emerged from staff meetings and public hearings by the Combined Plan and Zoning Commission that began Thursday, Jan. 8, 1998 and ended Thursday, Oct. 8, 1998.

Agreement between the village and the developer regarding the issue of fences between Deercrest and adjacent property was not resolved and will be discussed further. The developer agreed to abide by future village decisions.

The Deercrest PUD, in general, contains more open space and is less dense than required or permitted by village ordinances.

The Combined Plan and Zoning Commission had recommended denial of the Deercrest PUD request on Oct. 8. A subsequent workshop between the developer and village trustees with plan and zoning commissioners was conducted Tuesday, Jan. 12, 1999 to evaluate 11 reasons for the commission's vote to deny.

Cashier Kay cashes-in on $100,000 instant cache

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Fortune smiled on Antioch Armanetti Wine and Liquors' Cashier Kay Druse at 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 26 when she received $100,000.

Someone had to tell her how much she won because she kept miscounting the zeros.

Druse will be back.

"I was trying to save money," Druse said. In the moments before she scratched an Illinois State Lottery scratch-and-win ticket, she was trying to figure a way to save a few more dollars for her 10-day vacation trip to Florida with her sisters and Aunt.

"Every couple of years we go," she said. Sisters Lynn, Joy, Val, and Aunt Helen were scheduled to leave on vacation this week. A few more dollars in her pocket would help her enhance the experience.

"I was standing here working," she said. "When I work, I play a couple of scratch-offs. To no avail." Friday would be different, but it had not felt different before the big win.

"I took a chance."

"It spit out a winner." The $5 ticket revealed itself in stages, according to Druse. "I didn't believe my eyes."

At first she thought it was $100, but then it looked more like a $1,000. "I just couldn't count 'em."

That is $5 for five zeros, after a non-descript number one.

She will continue to work. "It's not a million," she said.

True, but it is enough to spread it around, and she intends to help out some family members with two purchases. Indeed, if she buys the cars at Antioch dealerships, her sales taxes will in turn help out every Antioch resident.

"I'm going to buy both my daughters (Karen and Dawn) a car. I need a new kitchen floor and countertop. And, I would love to go to Alaska," she said. "Everyone says it is beautiful. Now I can afford to go."

"The rest we're going to save," she said. "We need a nest egg."

Druse and husband Delbert take fall vacations. They like to head west. She said that she only plays local lottery games, but on their trips west through Davenport, she admits she

RINGA FUNERAL HOME

Bob Ringa, Jr. — Funeral Director

Funeral customs are slowly changing, and so, too, is the ownership of many family funeral homes and cemeteries.

A recent trend has been for a few large domestic and foreign corporations to purchase family-run funeral homes. Unfortunately, they do not change the name on the sign, leaving one to assume the original family still owns the establishment.

Our firm is still owned by the family that founded it over 103 years ago. And, because we are a family-owned and directed funeral home, we can still provide the thoughtful service that only a family can, at fair prices.

HOMES: Development gains nod of Village Board

Sprenger on the north side of Route 173 at the north end of Savage Road. There will be a total of 495 dwelling units in the Deercrest PUD.

The approved PUD is 20 dwelling units less than the 515 units originally proposed by Deercrest developers. Also, existing zoning conditions on the property would allow 672 dwelling units.

Deercrest developers agreed to create a conservation easement for designated portions of the property that will be managed by a group acceptable to the village.

The developer will pay the village $40 per dwelling unit to be placed in a fund to help pay for a traffic signal, at some future unspecified and unknown time, at Route 173 and Savage Road.

The developer will pay school impact fees and library impact fees as agreed upon with officials of each district.

The developer will transfer park property to the Village of Antioch Parks and Recreation Department as well as $883,000 of park improvements secured by a bond of 115 percent.

The 495 dwelling units will consist of 116 town homes, 111 clustered homes, and 268 single family homes. Townhouse units will not be placed on top of one another.

The village will provide sewer and water to the development from its own lines yet to be constructed. Repayment of village bonds for the sewer and water improvements constructed by the village will be guaranteed by an unconditional letter of credit in place prior to final plan approval.

Final plans for Deercrest must be submitted within five years or the village will have the right to hold public hearings and considering canceling the approved Deercrest PUD.

In addition, two other changes have been made by the Deercrest developer in the preliminary plan and approved by the Village board.

A secondary road was added to permit a future connection with any land development to the west of the property. At the present time, no development is planned for that area.

A 10-foot wide easement was created between some lots that gives residents in the northwestern portion of the property access to Mary's Park.

The developer will work with Village of Antioch officials to petition the Illinois Department of Transportation to obtain a traffic signal at Savage Road and Route 173. Deercrest plans include proper right-of-way widths and areas for deceleration lanes.

Townhouse buildings will not have more than four dwelling units per building.

DOWNTOWN: Merchants button-up to create parking awareness

ted downtown during construction. There will be only one lane of traffic through downtown, and the sidewalks will be replaced on one side of the street at a time.

LeMere gave a strong endorsement to the merchant button and shopper card program. "This button program that Barbara (Porch) is going to introduce is wonderful."

Buttons will be distributed in a variety of ways. Some merchants suggested passing them out at the Piggly-Wiggly grocery store and the True Value/Just Ask Rental Store, both on Orchard Street. Merchants will have buttons in their stores to give-away.

"We can hand out buttons at the Expo at the end of March," said Porch.

The Chamber will sponsor its third annual Antioch Business Expo/Trade Show at Antioch Community High School on Saturday and Sunday, March 27 and 28.

"I like the button idea because of the visual impact," said Wendy Maston, of Quilter's Dream Inc., 902 Main Street.

Randy Nolan, of Impressions Count, 907 Main Street, urged that the program start as soon as possible so customers will have their buttons and cards in hand as construction starts.

"This is a positive program," LeMere told merchants.

MONEY: Cashier wins

has walked onto a Riverboat Casino. "I play a quick-pick when the numbers are big," she said. Otherwise, her risk-taking is limited to scratch-offs.

Druse has been in the area all her life. "I grew up in Lake Villa and lived here my adult life, over 30 years," she said. She has worked for eleven years at Antioch Armanetti Wine and Liquors, 1180 Main Street, at Routes 173 and 83.

All of her regular customers are excited for her. "They all want to come in and rub me for luck," she said.

The store put up a large sign announcing that she is a winner.

For her, the scratch-off games are the ones to play. She said that she knows if she has won or lost immediately. "It's fun." According to her, you never know what you're getting.

"It's a shocker. I still can't sleep," she said of her winnings.

Comedy night benefits community

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club's Comedy Night presents its third annual comedy night, tomorrow, Saturday, March 6 at Father Hanley Hall at St. Peter's School starting at 7 p.m..

Two comedians are the featured performers of the evening, but the real community-building action is the raffle and silent auctions. For appetites, there are appetizers and desserts.

To add dignity to the evening, The Antioch Woman's Club has added President Ted Axton, of the First National Bank- Employee Owned, and Antioch Community High School District 117 Superintendent Dr. Dennis Hockney to the mix as masters of ceremony.

"We're getting a lot of good feedback," said club President Cathi Hackel. "It's March. We're all looking forward to a night out that is close-by."

She urges everyone to come and enjoy the comedy and have a great time. It is a full evening of food, entertainment, and humor. "Everybody's been very supportive of what we're trying to do," Hackel said.

Professional comedians Fred

Klett and Patti Vasquez will each create a special evening. They are the featured attraction for 90 minutes of family humor during the evening.

Comedian Fred Klett does a style of family-oriented material about marriage that Bill Cosby so successfully employs. He does calm observations of existence. He comments about living with children.

Klett has performed with Jerry Seinfeld, Jay Leno, and Richard Lewis. He has appeared on Comedy Central, HBO, and Showtime and, recently, made his network television debut on NBC's "Friday Night Videos."

Opening for Klett is Patti Vasquez. She has been at Zanies In Mt. Prospect where she has opened for comedians like Bill Maher, Tom Rhodes, Richard Lewis, John Pinette, John Caponera, and Will Durt.

Vasquez has appeared on NBC's "Friday Night" program. She learned her performance skills at the Players Workshop of Second City in Chicago.

Comedy Night provides most of the funds the woman's club uses during the year to benefit community groups. The money helps local organizations such as the Antioch Rescue Squad, Guiding Eyes for the Blind, Save-a-Life Foundation, as well as area school programs such as Snowflake, the Tom-Tom newspaper, Finesse Magazine, and the choir.

"Last year we gave to the burn camp," member Vickie Axton said. A $1,300 donation covers the cost for two children for a one week stay.

"We gave, last year, to the Guiding Eyes for the Blind."

Local automobile dealerships, restaurants, and downtown businesses have contributed merchandise, gift certificates, and services. "Usually there's something for everybody," said member Karen Kubin.

"We do have a hand-painted print of a light-house. Jack Miller painted it," said Vickie Axton.

Laurie Stahl has donated creation of a special cake. J.C.'s Pizzeria has donated a pizza-a-month for one year. There are season tickets for PM&L Theater as well as for Six Flags Great America.

Baskets have been donated with special collections. They include: a Christmas basket, chocolate basket, Italian wine and pasta basket, bird basket, birthday basket, garden basket, and a desperation dinner basket.

"There will be clothing from Sequoit Pride," said Vickie Axton. Tickets at the door are $15.

Artist to demonstrate in pottery shop

Jill Tortorella will host Anne-Bridget Gary at the Antioch Pottery Works on Thursday, March 11 starting at 10 a.m. Gary will discuss her experiences as a potter-ceramist in China, Korea, Japan, and the United States.

Gary is professor of ceramics at the University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point.

She will have slides and demonstration pieces. Gary "will demonstrate her unique style of wheel throwing that includes carving, both porcelain and stoneware, and 'stuffing' forms for sculpture." Tortorella said that people should be a lunch and drink.

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club is building its membership. They have added about 15 new members this year, according to President Cathi Hackel. That gives them about 60 members total.

A major up-coming event is their Walk-a-Thon on May 15 at 9 a.m. in Van Paten Woods.

It will cost $12 to enter. "It's our twelfth year," she said. People can donate more if they like.

Member Jodi Eckert is organizing the walk.

The club will meet in a few days, Tuesday, March 9, at the Mapletown Room of the Community Building at 7 p.m. Pickard China will make a presentation as well as Antioch Community School District 34. The district will present information about the Tuesday, April 13 school bond referendum.

Antioch Community Chorus will present "The Crucifixion" in the sanctuary of the Benedictine Abbey on Palm Sunday, March 28 at 7:30 p.m. Ralph Brooke, of Antioch, will conduct. Featured local soloists are Wanda Sobczak, Ken Smouse, and John Desblens. Nicholas Solomon, of Deerfield, and Norman Miranda, of Kenosha, will also sing.

Antioch resident Judith Bronder will be on the Illinois Lottery's television game show "Illinois' Luckiest" on Saturday, March 6. She will appear on Chicago's WGN-TV, Channel 9 at 6:30 p.m. She will compete with 17 other contestants from across the state for prizes of up to $100,000 or more. She qualified to appear when she found three television sets on her "Illinois' Luckiest" instant ticket. She filled out the back of the ticket and sent it to Springfield. Minimum prize for contestants is $500.

Swing Street Café '99 offers musical evening

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Swing Street Café '99 rolls out some new sounds and dance movements this year in the completely re-decorated south gymnasium of Antioch Community High School.

This annual showcase of musical talent and evening of fun and dancing will be Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13. The doors open at 7 p.m.

"The show starts at 7:30 p.m. and it ends around 10," said Sheri Fries.

Fries and Lynne Keller have brought this annual event together with the members of ACHS Music and Performance Sponsors, AMPS.

Swing Street Café presents the musical talent gathered in the jazz ensembles, concert and symphonic bands, soloists, the Show Choir, the Fortunate Eight choir, and theater members.

"On the menu will be nachos, pizza, potatoes, desserts, and beverages," said Fries. "We have a lot of parent help making the desserts."

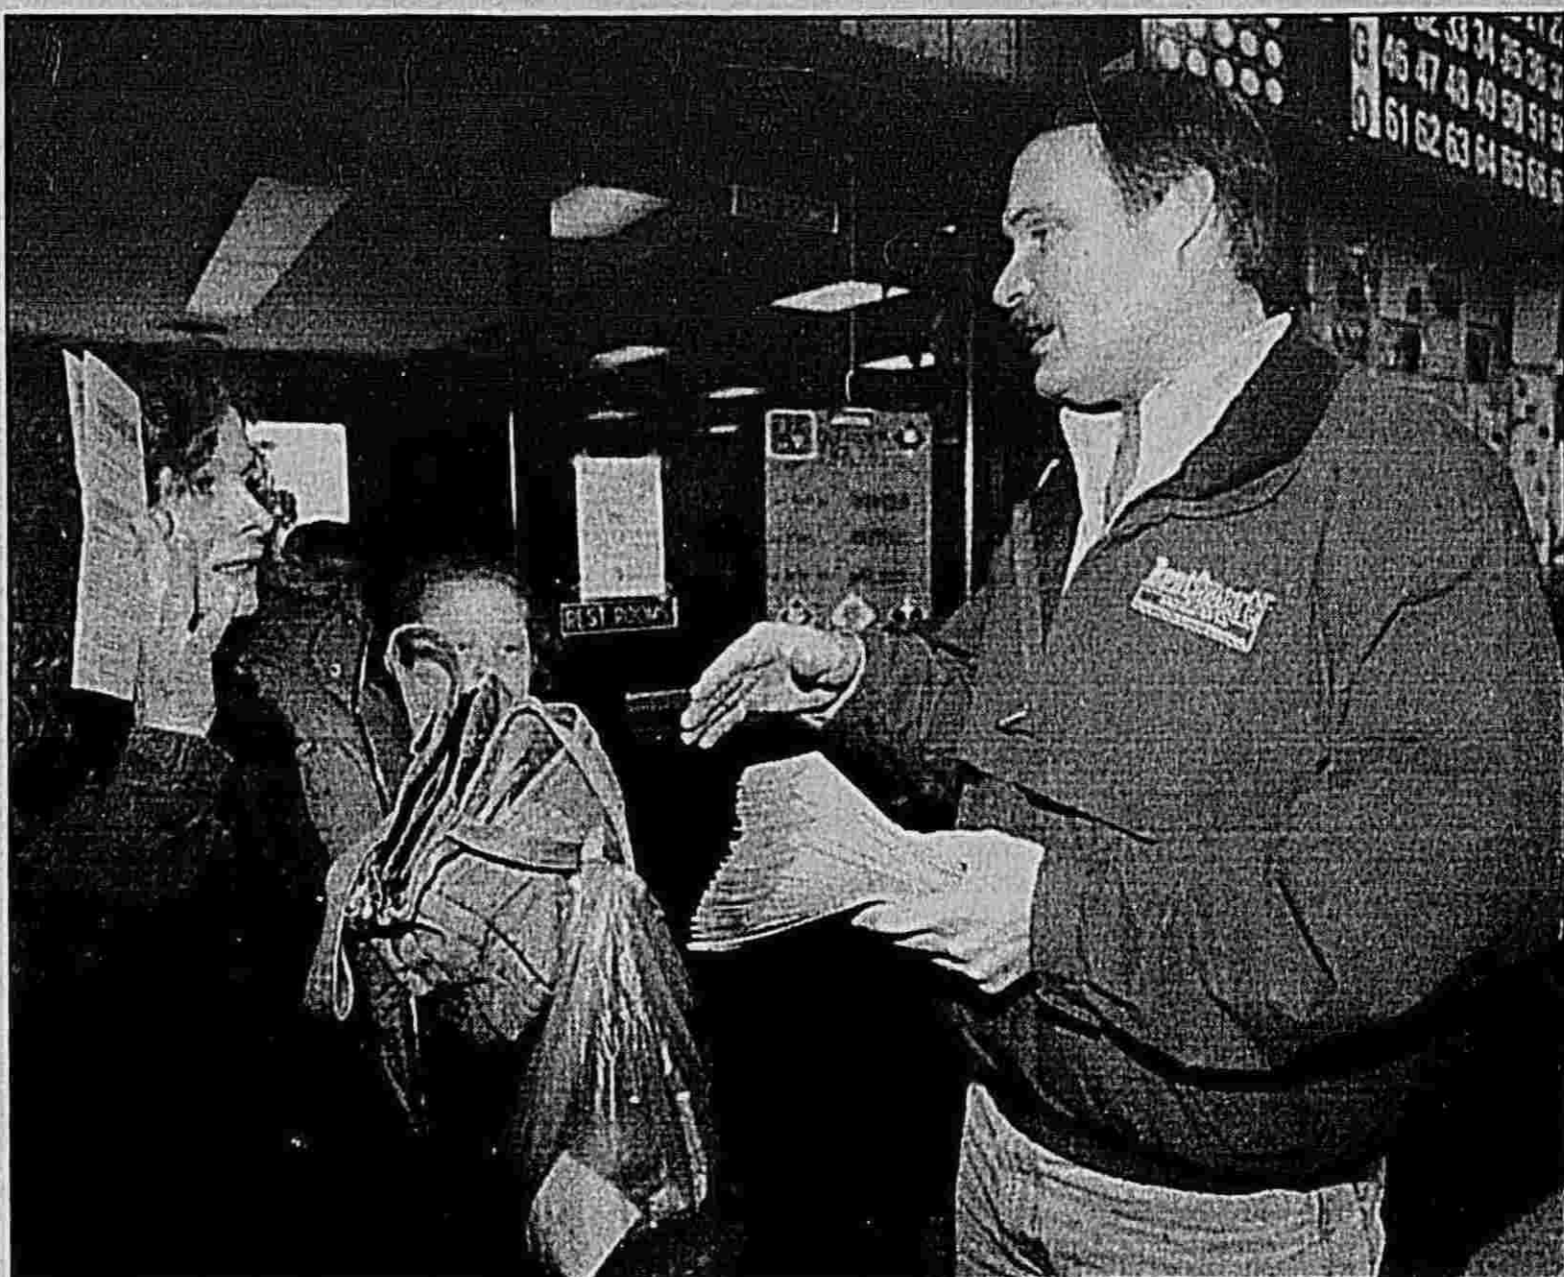

Larry Mondle's Baskin and Robbins Antioch franchise has made a donation for the evening's food. Dominos is helping to provide the pizzas.

"We will also have a variety of raffle prizes drawn each night that were donated by area businesses."

The raffles this year are for merchandise. There is no 50/50 raffle this year, according to Fries.

Tickets are at the door at are $6 for adults, $3 for students, and children under five may attend without cost.

"The money generated by this fund raiser will go towards the instrumental music program at Antioch Community High School," Fries said.

Women to pray with Venezuela service at St. Peter

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

A Women's Ecumenical World Day of Prayer based on a service written by women in Venezuela will be hosted in Antioch by women at St. Peter Church. The service also will be held in churches around the world.

"St. Peter's Women invite women of all faiths to join us on Friday, March 5," said Jean Zak, a member of the organizing committee.

The service includes a pot luck luncheon and then the special prayer service at 1 p.m.

"A pot luck will be served at 11:30 p.m. in the lower level of the Church," she said. "A new elevator has been installed for your convenience."

"The entrance is off the side door."

She asks that participants bring a dish to pass.

"Every year women from a different country will write the program," Zak said. "This year it is written by the women of Venezuela."

Twelve women from different churches in the Antioch area will put on the prayer service.

Veterans donate radar display unit to police

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Members of the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoit Post 4551 and Ladies Auxiliary have donated a radar speed display unit to the Antioch Police Department.

The donation is one of a series of actions the post has taken to support Antioch and improve community service.

VFW Members also have made contributions to the DARE Program and have recently purchased additional land for more parking for people who use their hall for community events.

The radar display unit shows drivers the speed of automobiles as they pass through the radar.

"They had seen the unit," said Lt. Ron Roth, of the Antioch Police Department. "They thought it was a great tool for the police department to promote safe driving."

"This piece of equipment is state of the art," said Roth. It is made by a manufacturer well known for quality law enforcement radar systems.

The veterans' membership voted to make the donation in January, according to Post Commander Bill Oerly. The Ladies Auxiliary of Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoit Post 4551 contributed $500, and the Sequoit Post veterans contributed $1,000. The Village of Antioch matched the grants to purchase the equipment.

Roth said, "This is part of a community policing effort. It lets drivers know what their speed is."

Post member Al Himber said, "It's not to intimidate the motorist but to keep them aware of speeds to help protect children in the community."

"What we're doing, number one priority, is putting this in school zone areas during school hours," said Roth. The unit also will be used in high volume traffic areas and places that have a high rate of accidents.

The unit will be placed in areas where police receive a high level of citizen complaints about speeding.

"It's helped some," Roth said. People do slow down when they are reminded of their speed. "We've had a lot of positive feedback on this."

"Most people realize we're trying to make drivers aware of the speed limits without issuing a traffic citation."

Roth offered a helpful hint for Antioch drivers who pass the unit on top of a police squad car. Roth said that after setting-up the radar display unit in an area for a day or two, drivers may later see a squad car in the area actually running radar and writing tickets.

"Which I think is more than fair," he said.

Oerly said that Sequoit Post was able to raise money for the donation through its bingo program and Pull-tab receipts. In the past, the post has donated in-vehicle computers to the police department. They also have donated to the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District and the Antioch Rescue Squad.

The veterans' support for the DARE Program has been given over a few years. "We've made a donation last year and this year too," Oerly said. The money helps the department purchase T-shirts and program literature.

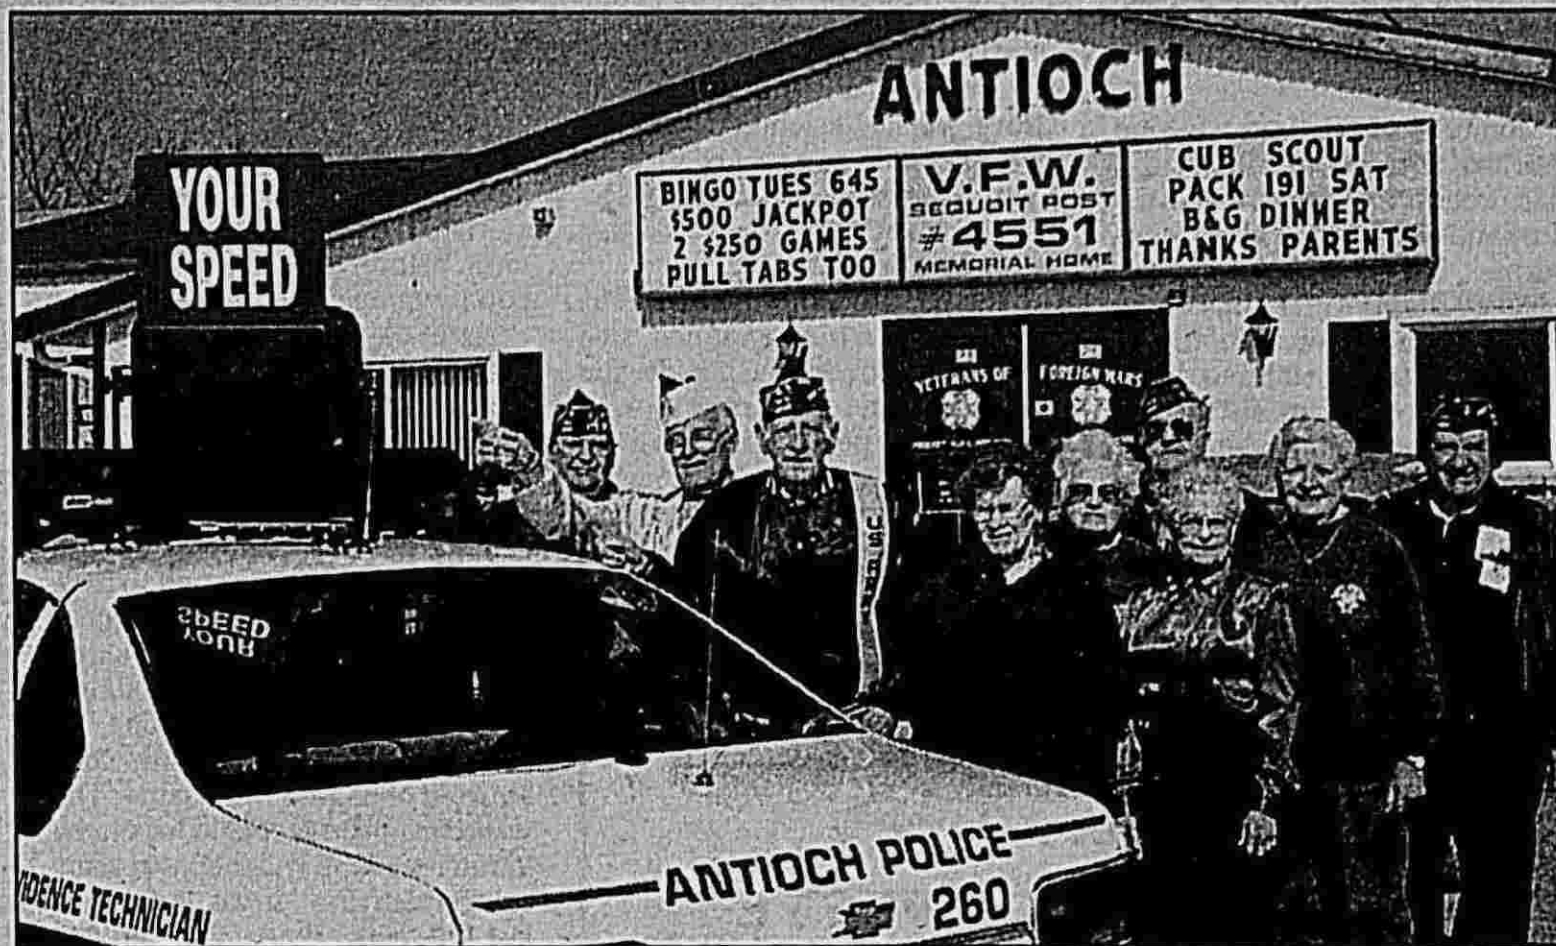

"We donated to help them buy what they needed," Oerly said. "I think it's a good program."

The donations by the veterans for community projects is financed through their weekly bingo games and Pull-tabs.

To assure themselves that they have sufficient parking for the hall, the veterans have purchased property east of their building.

"We purchased it for a parking lot," Oerly said. "Right now we're parking up to 50 to 60 cars on a good night."

The purchase was approved by the membership at a special meeting.

Members of the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoit Post 4551 and the Ladies Auxiliary of the post helped purchase a radar display unit for the Antioch Police department. It will tell motorists their speed on village roads. With the donated unit are, from the left, Ron Harmon, John Kurinec, Al Himber, Gloria Karrick, Dorothee Himber, Wally Hartge, Nell Kangeter, Joan Jendras, and Post Commander Bill Oerly.— Photo by Kenneth Patchen

Antioch historians learn of barns' beauty, fate

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Members of the Lakes Region Historical Society met Thursday, Feb. 25 to stop, look, and listen to the history and future fate of Lake County barns.

Nancy Burgess, of Long Grove-based Save-a-Barn Foundation, presented a selection of slides to document county barns of all shapes, sizes, and styles. More than 100 barns will eventually appear in a book about Lake County barns that she has completed. She is trying to raise money to help her publish the

"I got started doing this because last year we had barns on the Long Grove Village calendar," Burgess said. She spoke to a packed meeting room at the society's museum at Depot and Main streets.

"I kind of fell in love."

Burgess said that the barns she has found and photographed each have the essence of the people who built them, the farmers who used them, and the people who own them now.

"I will show you 33 barns I've documented."

"These barns were built from our very early forests," she said. "It was one of the most important structures on the farm."

At the time that the county's oldest barns were built, they were constructed to last forever.

Early pioneers had never seen land before that looked like the county landscape. "They set their barns in the best places overlooking the lands closer to the fields." It was a break with European traditions of barn placement.

Burgess took the society's members on a century-long tour of Lake County barn history. Her earliest photograph shows one said to have been built in 1834 in the Barrington area by Native Americans. Other barns in her collection reflected German traditions of construction.

Some barns were simply constructed of hand-hewn beams. The wood had been prepared for use by a water-soaking and then two years of vertical drying. "It was designed to last 100 years," she said of one 1847 structure, now 152 years old.

Burgess shared stories about the construction methods, materials, and the families that built the barns or owned them. She described design changes through the decades. She explained the social and cultural history of barns.

For example, there was a period of time when barns were built by wealthy gentleman farmers who hired architects to design them. Barns could have hot and cold running water, cork floors to better protect hoofs, and special woods. Some barns were expanded as the family grew.

Barns revealed much about the family. "If you had a large beautiful barn, you definitely had your priorities in order."

"The silo was really a revolutionary addition," Burgess said. It allowed farmers to offer animals a better feed ration through the winter and early spring. It improved silage storage. Other barns added a new invention, ridge poles.

Some barns had stars carved into their walls to permit light to enter to illuminate the interior. The star also would serve for the farmer as a reminder of who was really in charge of his farm. Some barns had windows near the peak with panes of glass that had been carefully carried from the east coast.

The best time for dairy barns in Lake County was around the 1880s. "It was becoming a very strong business," she said. By the 1890s, the size of barns had increased dramatically, in part because of a new roof line design. "It allowed for more storage in the hay lofts," she said.

The history of barns in Lake County is a rich tour of the agricultural roots of the county and the traditions of the life that was lived on its farms.

Burgess makes her presentations to educate and interest people about county barn history. She seeks financial support for the Save-a-Barn Foundation, sells deep green T-shirts, post cards, and posters.

The foundation was created to save Lake County barns. She said that if people do not help save them, they will be destroyed.

"Many of the barns in the county have already been bought by developers," she said. Opportunities to save them, maintain them, or re-use them have become ever more precious. She showed examples of barns re-used as homes, churches, and community centers.

The Save-A-Barn hotline is 847-913-9464. There is also a web site (www.nsn.org/eakhome/savebarn).

"Each one has its own story," she said.

Historians to host open house

The Lakes Region Historical Society will host an open house Sunday, May 2.

Members will meet Thursday, March 25 to plan for the event.

The open house will feature new exhibits built by member Earl Beese in the lower level display area during the past several months.

"We're going to need a little bit of help," said President Bob Lindblad.

He encouraged the membership to turn out for the March 25 meeting.

"I will ask for people to sign up to serve on open house committees," he said. Committees to be formed include refreshments, invitations, and publicity.

The society will invite local contractors involved in helping the society as well as local political leaders.

Rotary seeks homes for exchange students

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Rotary Club members are searching for host families for their 1999 Exchange Student from Denmark. Rotarians hope to secure three families that will offer him a place to stay.

Magnus Boesen, 16, will arrive from Klampenborg, a suburb of Copenhagen, in August. He speaks both German and English well.

The principal for his school described him as a skilled student who is serious about his studies. Boesen was described as a good ambassador for Denmark.

Exchange students are not tourists who must be entertained, according to Stan Livermore, Rotary member. "They're coming to learn about life in the United States and to be an ambassador for their home country," he said. "They're not here to be on vacation."

Members of the Antioch Rotary Club are looking for area families that would welcome Boesen into their homes for a few months so that he can learn what life in the United States is like.

"What we would like to do is find three families that will each host him for three-and-a-half months.

All school expenses of the exchange student are paid by Rotary. Boesen also receives a financial allowance from Rotary.

"The host family receives $100 a month to offset room and board," Livermore said.

Boesen does not need his own room. He is allowed to share a room.

Boesen comes from a family of two doctors and has a sister, 13, by the name of Eva. His father is a specialist in ear, nose, and throat medicine. His mother is a family doctor. They each have their own clinic.

Boesen said that he is looking forward to the opportunity to make new friends, experience another school system, learn about another culture, and live with another family. He expects to improve his ability to write and speak English through the exchange student experience.

Boesen said that he would like to seek additional education after high school. He is thinking of becoming a pilot, a biologist, or a zoologist.

His hobbies are active ones, tennis and soccer. He plays tennis well and recently won a championship of a club of which he is a member. He also teaches tennis to 12 children who are about 7 or 8 years old.

Boesen is already well-traveled. The family has been to California twice and to Florida twice. In addition, they have been to Mexico, Holland, and Greece. Boesen has spent quite a bit of time in France, Italy, Germany, Sweden, and Norway.

Antioch area residents who would like to host the Rotary exchange student can contact Livermore at 395-4200.

Police warn seniors of driveway fraud

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Police Officers have received complaints about two men in a pick-up truck who offer to seal-coat driveways for senior citizens.

The men offer to cover a driveway for $300 for homeowners.

One homeowner noticed that the men were doing a poor job on her driveway. She requested a receipt with their name and business address which they could not provide her.

"She said she was calling the police, and they left," said Lt. Ron Roth of the Antioch Police Department.

Roth said that people should be aware that driveways are not seal-coated in February in this area. The $300 cost is excessive.

People who become suspicious of this service being performed for them, or are concerned that it may not be legitimate, should call the police department.

"People should be aware that this could happen," he said.

Visitor nominates nine of Antioch's features

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

It would be nice to report that the search for the 100 Best things about Antioch is flushed with success.

Instead, maybe it is time to send it down the tubes.

After a few weeks of seeking suggestions and participation, only two people have taken the time to write and fax what they consider to be the best attributes of their home town.

One e-mail list has shown up from San Francisco, however, and it offers a ranking of the top nine attractive features. The list offers a visitor's perspective of what is great about Antioch.

The Antioch News may publish a story on March 26 about the one hundred best things in the Village of Antioch.

Residents are encouraged to nominate their ideas.

The article will include ideas from the public, and other sources, that cover every facet of village life.

Antioch area residents should send nominations in writing as well as a statement about why that is a "best thing" about Antioch for them.

People can send a list with several items. It is not necessary there be 100 nominations. They can list what is truly considered to be wonderful and nice about being in Antioch, about the community, or about people or events that make it nice to be here.

The deadline for contributions is Friday, March 12.

Send the cards and letters to Rhonda Hetrick Burke, Managing Editor, Antioch News, 30 South Whitney Street, Grayslake, Illinois 60030.

People also may send nominations by fax to 223-8810.

Checking in from San Francisco is occasional visitor Terry Sedik. He is the Community Development Director of Daly City, California. His father, Emil Sedik, lives in Highland Park. Sedik frequently visits his father and other friends, including one in the Antioch area.

"Can I offer you my list of things to put on the 100 best things list?" he said.

Number nine on his list was the ease of parking downtown. He thinks he is influenced in that choice because he lives in San Francisco where there is no parking, more or less.

He listed the wine selection at Antioch Armanetti Wine and Liquors, 1180 Main Street. It is a good collection, and Dean Weiner is a very knowledgeable person on the staff there who can help people with selections.

Number seven, on his list is the Halloween festivities in downtown Antioch. "Totally neat," he said.

He put Buttrick Sawmill Park on the list as number six.

Five is DiMarco's Restaurant, 883 Main Street. From the terra cotta planters in front, the beautiful exterior, the atmosphere setting music of Frank Sinatra, to the menu and daily specials, this is a beautiful place with great food.

He nominated the Lakes Region Historical Society as number four. True, he's never been there, but he likes to read the stories about their activities on the NetDirect web site which displays stories from Lakeland Newspapers (www.lpnnews.com). It is good to know that the excitement of local people sharing discoveries and knowledge about village elders comes across in the stories. The meetings are fun.

This is a strong nomination.

His second place choice was the Chamber of Commerce and Industry web page (www.lake-online.com/antioch/index.htm). "In bloom 365 days a year," he said. The page is maintained for the chamber by Judith Kallos at istudio, 391 Lake Street. Kallos does outstanding work maintaining the page, although the wiggling peek-a-boo eyeball on the chamber's Halloween page in 1997 was perhaps their outstanding achievement.

For Terry Sedik, village tourist from San Francisco, the number one best thing about Antioch is "Something Sweet," 879 Main Street. The homemade fudge that Sandy Leibolt and Michele Michel make and sell is very good. They donate some of their product to community groups to help with silent auctions or raffles. They are surely some of the friendliest people around. They contribute the door-prize to PM&L Theater productions.

Even from the left side of the continent, the best things of Antioch are evident.

Right now, the last issue before the deadline, however, it would seem that the best aspect of Antioch may be its modesty and unwillingness to draw attention to its best features.

Perhaps such modesty should be respected.

Crafters needed for annual spring show

The 1999 Spring Craft Show at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post has openings for additional crafters.

The show will be Saturday, March 13 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Sunday, March 14 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"I'm still looking for crafters," Dorothee Himber said. She is the organizer for the craft show for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Sequoia Post 4551.

People who would like to participate may call Himber at 395-6934.

Crafters will offer gift items suitable for upcoming holiday events such as Easter and Mother's Day, according to Himber.

"This is the 19th one," she said. "We will have pretty close to 1,000 people who attend."

Last year there were 70 crafters offering a rich variety of merchandise. Himber said there will be clocks, planters, ceramic gift items, afghans, outdoor wood signs, T-shirts, sweat shirts, floor mats made from recycled tires, candy, and pottery.

"The fudge store is going to be here," she said. —Kenneth Patchen

THE CLIPBOARD

John Phelps

Sports fans, start your engines

We have already been and are going through the rigorous christening regarding the "new-look" Bulls. Who are these guys anyway? Will the real Bulls please step forward!

Anyway, enough on that. I promise not to subject you to any further agony. However, closer to home here at Lakeland Newspapers, we are also experiencing somewhat of a 'christening' and I'm pleased that I can be a part of it. In my case, we refer to the sports department.

Though not as earth-shattering in magnitude as the Bulls, I can assure you of more promising results.

Allow me to introduce myself. I'm John Phelps, currently residing in Chicago. Thanks to Executive Editor Neal Tucker and Managing Editor Rhonda Burke, along with sports editor Brendan O'Neill and the rest of the staff, I thank you for taking me in.

I have been saddled with the enviable task of picking up and carrying on (and then some) the legacy left behind of the departed Lee Filas.

Tall order, but I think we'll manage. I do have an advantage in my arsenal—prior knowledge of Lake County and some of the outstanding athletes it has and continues to produce year in and year out.

To some of you, I may be a familiar name, especially in the mid-late 1980s. To others, this will be a new experience that we can work on getting through together.

In short, I've spent many years in this neck of the woods. A 1985 graduate of Warren High, I journeyed over to The College of Lake County for two years.

That's where I discovered that journalism, specifically in the print arena, was the direction I wanted to go. With the aid of then interim athletic director and present guidance counselor Larry Whittier, I became the school's first Sports Information Director for the two ensuing years.

After two great years at CLC, I've spent the next, or last 12, depending on how you view it, dabbling around in the world of print journalism—most notably as a freelance sports writer for the News-Sun for six years and then at the Chicago Tribune, where I worked freelance for four years and was inside for four, all focusing on the prep level.

Somewhere in the middle of all of the chaos I managed to squeeze in a B.A. in Communications from little Eureka College in central Illinois.

Anyway, that's the portfolio in a nutshell. I'm very happy to be back in the smaller, weekly atmosphere for a variety of reasons.

Right off the bat Lakeland Newspapers is a great company always playing a part in our continuously growing culture. Furthermore, I hope to assist in the production of in-depth sports coverage to our readers, and Lakeland is the right place for me to do that.

Finally, it's nice to return to the small town atmosphere and get away from the hustle-and-bustle big city life tends to lend itself to. Not that there's anything wrong with that—call it a matter of preference. My folks, Al and Sunsannah DeCarlo, presently make Grayslake their home. It's nice to be somewhat closer to the family—returning to one's roots, if you will.

Anyway, sit back and enjoy the ride—I know I will.

John Phelps can be reached at (847) 223-8161, ext. 130; fax (847) 223-8810; or e-mail at edit@lnd.com.

Lady Rams 'Dream Season' not over yet

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

Repetition might be the buzz word here.

Head coach Mike Muldrow couldn't have asked for anything more in his inaugural season as the Grayslake girl's varsity basketball coach.

The truth of the matter is that his Lady Rams recently concluded somewhat of a dream season, finishing with the best record in the school's history at 21-8, including 13 consecutive victories to open the season. Grayslake, the sixth-seed in the regionals two weeks ago, beat Lake Forest in the first round before being eliminated by eliminated by Libertyville in the semifinals.

But wait—it gets better. Muldrow might not be asking for it but the chances are that he'll get it—an encore dream season if not better heading into next year.

"We did great," he said. "The biggest positive though is that we lose only two seniors and have eight juniors returning."

The Lady Rams should be the early odds-on favorites to win the Fox Valley going into next season, with Alicia Ratay departed from Lake Zurich, which has wreaked havoc in the FVC for many years.

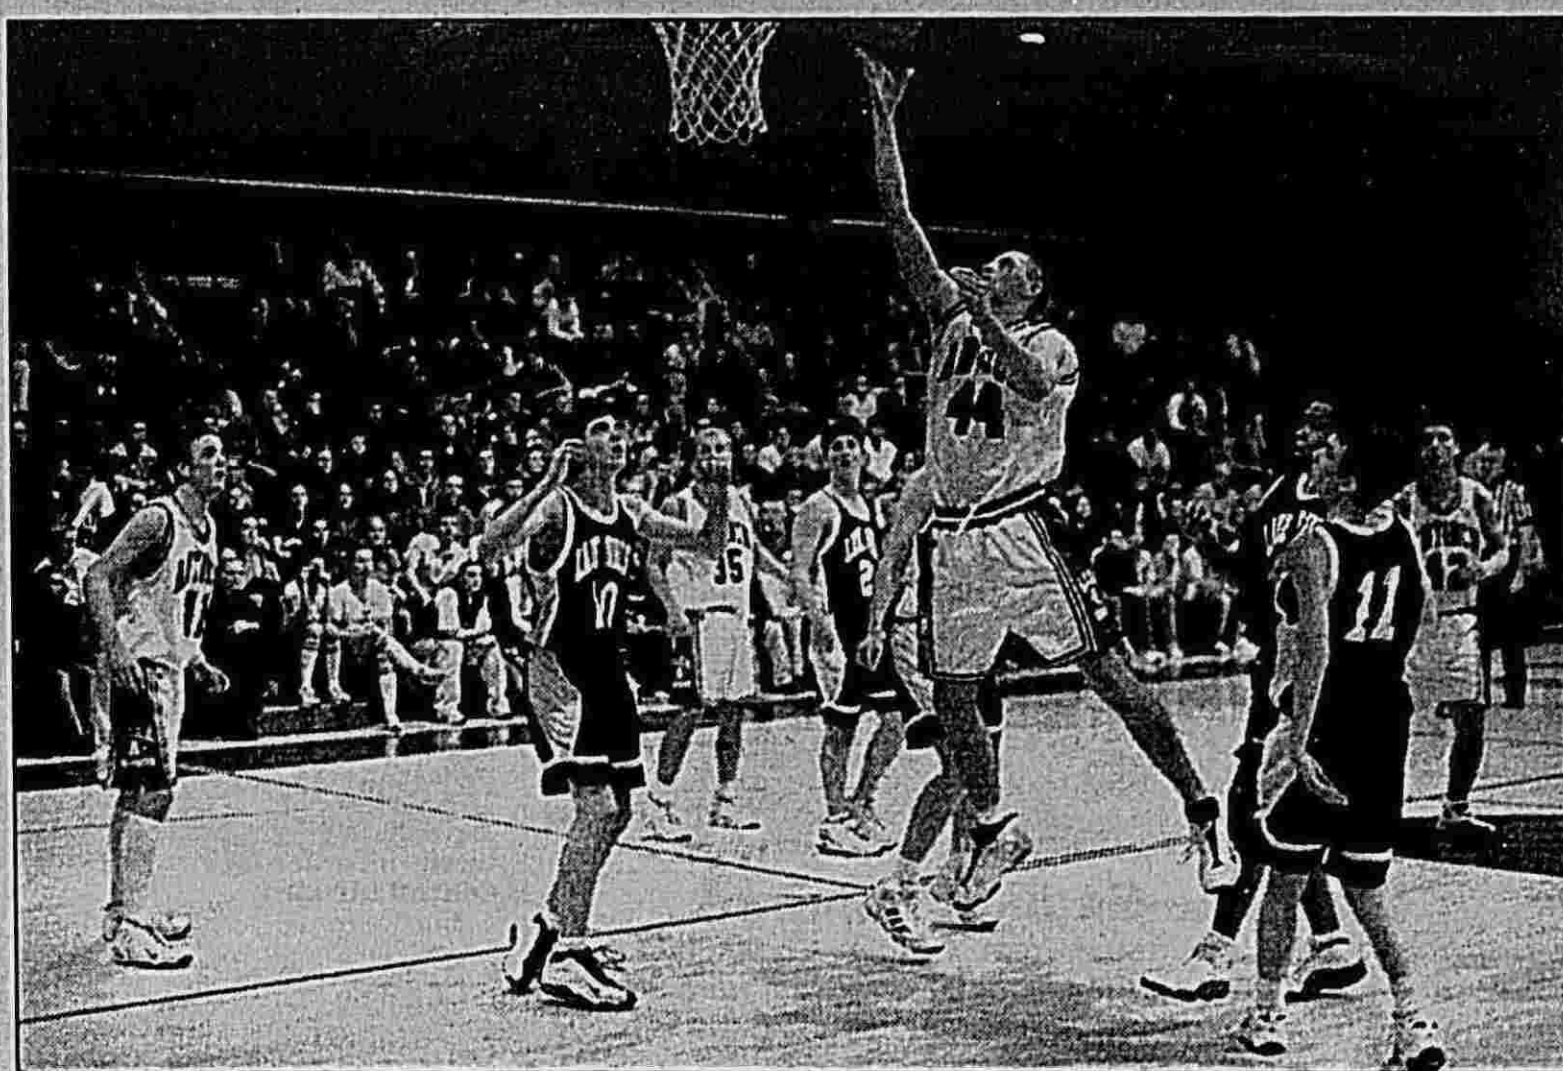

Changing of the guard? "Lake Zurich will still be very strong, but with the likes of (Alicia) Ratay gone, they should be a little more beatable," Muldrow said.

Grayslake, which finished second this year (13-5) behind who else, Lake Zurich, will suffer from the losses of 5-6 guard Alison Losik and 6-0 center Kendra Gallagher.

"Alison did a lot of great things at the guard position and Kendra, with her size advantage, was a good post player and grabbed a lot of rebounds for us," said Muldrow.

"We have a couple of holes to fill but we started juniors and sophomores most of the season, so their experience will definitely be an advantage for us next year."

Of those juniors returning for their senior campaign includes 6-4 center Jenny Wessel, one of the area's leading scorers this season with a 16.5 clip. Wessel, who shot 60 percent from the field and 70 percent from the foul line, and had over 100 blocks on the year, was an All-Tournament selection at the Elk Grove Thanksgiving and Wheaton North

Close call

Christmas Tournaments

For her efforts, Wessel was named to the Daily Herald All-Area and FVC All-Conference teams.

Carie Pasenelli, 5-7 point-guard, was also a FVC all-conference choice and will be looked upon to run the Rams offense next year.

"They're both very dedicated players and Wessel is a great defensive specialist inside," said Muldrow.

Also returning next year will be 5-9 guard/forward Amy Francis, who was all-tournament at Elk Grove and all-conference as a sophomore, and 5-8 guard Carrie Hovik, who will probably start along with Pasenelli in what will be a solid backcourt for Grayslake.

Melissa Sanders (5-8) will be a junior and solidify the guard position for the Rams.

"She's a great athlete that started a lot of games for us towards the end of the season," said Muldrow.

It looks to be a very promising outlook for Grayslake as they look ahead towards next year—some of the proof is already there.

Lady Sequoits to build off season of struggles

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

Character is probably the best word to describe this year's Antioch girl's basketball team. The Sequoits struggled to an 8-18 record, but head coach Dave Woods isn't about to sweat it.

"I'm very proud how they hung in there," he said. "They could have folded the tent very easily but the character and willingness to hang in there and play hard despite being out-manned a lot of times—that really impressed me. They sure didn't play like an 8-18 team."

Antioch loses three seniors in Amy Carlberg (9 ppg), Katie Gofron, and Erin Riepe. But juniors waiting to step in include 5-9 forward Jordan Phillips and 5-10 forward Margaret Fischer, both of whom saw substantial time coming off the bench as juniors. Woods will look to them to be major contributors next year.

In addition, and perhaps most encouraging to Woods is that he will get his playmaker/point-guard back in 5-7 junior Katianna Pechauer, who went down with a torn ACL and missed most of this past season.

"We're really excited about her returning," said Woods. "She's got all-conference written all over her. Unfortunately, when she went down this year, we had to play some people out of position, so that kind of hurt us to lose her. She'll definitely be looked upon to run the offense next year."

The rest of the junior contingent coming in next year saw plenty of varsity time this season, so Woods isn't worried about inexperience.

In addition, he'll have 5-5 guard Bethany Shore, one of the perennial three-point threats in the area, along with Justine Sinkus, a 5-9 forward who led the team as a sophomore with six rebounds per game. Erica Brown, only a freshman this year, will complement Sinkus in the post, as will Shelley Wolfram, a 6-1 junior center, and 5-5 guard Sasha Mika, a three-point threat.

Brown was Antioch's leading scorer in about six games this past season and as she continues to mature, will be outstanding.

"We have a great group of outside shooters and the inside game to go along with it in Erica, Shelley, and Margaret. Whatever tandem we have in there between those players will tough to handle inside. Overall, things are looking pretty good."

"As long as they make the commitment to playing hard and staying in shape over the summer, next year looks promising. How hard they work over the summer will dictate pretty much what happens next year."

This was somewhat of a frustrating year for the Lady Sequoits and Woods is eager to put it behind.

"We so we just want to put it behind us and try to take it to the next level."

NAYB still has tournament openings

North American Youth Basketball announced that they still have openings in their annual spring youth basketball tournament for teams in the Elgin and surrounding area April 30 to May 2 at Dundee Crown High School and other area sites.

This tournament will feature 10 different brackets. They include fifth to sixth grade boys; fifth to sixth grade girls; seventh grade boys; seventh grade girls; eighth grade boys; eighth grade girls; ninth to 10th grade boys; ninth to 10th grade girls; 11th to 12th grade boys; 11th to 12th grade girls. All grades are based on the grade in which a student is currently enrolled.

The entry deadline is April 9. For additional information or an entry form, call Anita Livesay at the toll-free NAYB spring tournament hotline at 1 (888) 629-2275, or tournament director Mark Garrigan at 1 (800) 787-3265.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The following parcels of property, acquired through the Tax Sale Certificate Program, are being offered for sale by the County of Lake.

Written bids should be submitted to the County of Lake, Tax Extension Dept., Room 101, 18 N. County St., Waukegan, IL 60085.

Bids received will be retained for 30 days after the initial bid. After completion of the 30-day period, the County has the right to accept the highest bid or to reject it if the amount is insufficient or if the sale would not be in the best interest of Lake County Taxpayers.
